

Census Takers Will Be Hired After Jan. 1

Army Of 140,000 To Make 1950 Count

By CHARLES C. HASLET

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—Want to join the army of 140,000 men and women who will take the nation's 1950 census? They'll start next April.

You'll need good health, mentally and physically, and will also have to have an automobile available in good condition.

The Census Bureau said today that selection of enumerators for the bureau's field work will be made with extreme care, as these persons will be collecting confidential information.

Nobody should apply until after Jan. 1, the Bureau said, because all census takers will be hired next year, and then only at local offices.

Good Judgment Required

"They will be called upon to exercise sound judgment, patience and understanding, and they must be able to adjust themselves to varied circumstances," the Bureau continued.

If you can get your application accepted after the first of the year you probably will be paid on a "piece-price basis" or for each person or farm of enumeration. The average satisfactory worker probably will earn about eight dollars a day. Most enumerators will be employed from two to four weeks.

The qualification lists show that each applicant must be able to understand complex written and oral instructions, write legibly, conduct an interview, express himself clearly and convincingly, and be able to gain the cooperation and confidence of people in all stations of life.

More than that, the applicant must have a "personable appearance" and his reputation, character and integrity must be above reproach.

Veterans Get Preference

He must be in good health and able to travel continuously in all kinds of weather and over all types of terrain.

"The work involves a good deal of walking and standing for extended periods. In cities it is frequently necessary for an enumerator to climb several flights of stairs in order to interview respondents."

The preferred age group is 25 to 45 years and the definite age limit is 21 to 65. Veterans who can meet the requirements will be given preference over non-veterans.

Those selected cannot hold office in any political organization or have any expectation of serving in any form of political activity while actually employed by the Census Bureau.

Kalamazoo Boy Hit With Ax By Mother Hovers Near Death

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 4 (AP)—Six-year-old Ray Barrett barely clinging to life today as his mother underwent mental tests after striking him with an ax.

Attendants at Bronson hospital said the child was still in critical condition from head wounds.

The mother, Mrs. Jean Barrett, 29, was taken to Kalamazoo State hospital under temporary commitment yesterday after the attack.

Officers said Mrs. Barrett told them of hallucinations that someone was trying to kidnap her son and torture him.

"I thought I could save him," she told police.

PACKARD HONORS VETERAN
Detroit, (AP)—Edward D. Jones, the only employee remaining from the original force of Packard Motor car workers at its founding 50 years ago, received a new automobile as a gift from the company Thursday. Packard President George Christopher presented the car to the 70-year-old Jones at a ceremony in the plant.

Bolivian Airman Hears Of Tragedy, Suffers Relapse

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Potomac River yielded the last body today of the 55 persons plunged to death in its waters by Tuesday's air collision of an airliner and a fighter plane.

It was that of William Smythe, 39, of Roslyn Estates, Long Island, N. Y., a passenger on the airliner. He was secretary-treasurer of the Eberhard Faber Pencil Co.

It was touch-and-go whether the final toll of the worst airplane disaster in history would be 55 or 56.

Erick Rios Bridoux, 28, Bolivian pilot of the fighter plane and the sole survivor of the crash, was in critical condition.

Attending physicians gave the battered young director of Bolivian aviation a 60-40 chance to pull through. He is in an Alexandria, Va., hospital with a broken back, two broken ribs, head injuries and pneumonia.

Rios Bridoux was at the controls of a P-38 fighter plane which tore into an Eastern Airlines DC-4 over National Airport Tuesday, causing the death of all 55 aboard the transport. The Bolivian was the only person to survive the crash.

Doctors had kept from him all details of the accident. Bolivian Ambassador Ricardo Martinez Vargas had explained: "Latin Americans are very sensitive, and it would kill him to hear about it."

Yesterday it was disclosed that a visitor had spilled the whole story to the injured pilot. Hospital attendants reported that Rios Bridoux, who had been on the mend, took a bad turn for the worse.

All but one of the victims' bodies had been recovered from the Potomac River last night. Navy divers who earlier had enabled a huge crane to lift part of the shattered airliner off the river bed also succeeded late yesterday in locating the P-38. They marked it with buoys and planned to pull it to the surface today.

Officials hoped the fighter's instruments might give a clue to the cause of the crash. It occurred after frantic control tower operation had tried twice to warn Rios Bridoux away from the big transport.

The Bolivian had bought the P-38 here for his government and was giving it a final check ride.

Soapy Slippery, Brake Charges

Governor Is Accused Of Smear Tactics

Paw Paw, Mich., Nov. 4 (AP)—State Treasurer D. Hale Brake accused Governor Williams last night of conducting a "smear campaign" against Republican elective officials.

Brake, a possible Republican candidate for governor, rapped the Democratic governor at a G. O. P. rally here.

Asserting that previous Republicans have kept capable Democrats in some appointive positions, Brake said that "in the mind of Governor Williams, as in the mind of Gus Scholle who stands just behind his shoulder directing traffic, there is no virtue in any Republican." (Scholle is the state CIO president who once said the CIO never would support a Republican.)

Brake declared some political jockeying between parties was necessary and valuable, but "generally there has been some ethical standards even in politics and the complete disregard for the truth that has been evidenced by our Michigan new deal in recent weeks is setting a new low for high officials of our state."

Brake said that "Statistically, Soapy is slippery." (Soapy is Williams' nickname.)

He charged that Williams deliberately withheld the truth from the people in a recent radio talk when he said the state would lose $1,800 in interest on the ill-fated "El Siglo" apartment investment in Tucson.

"The falsity of that statement is a matter of public record," Brake said. "The money he is talking about was paid to us in February, 1949."

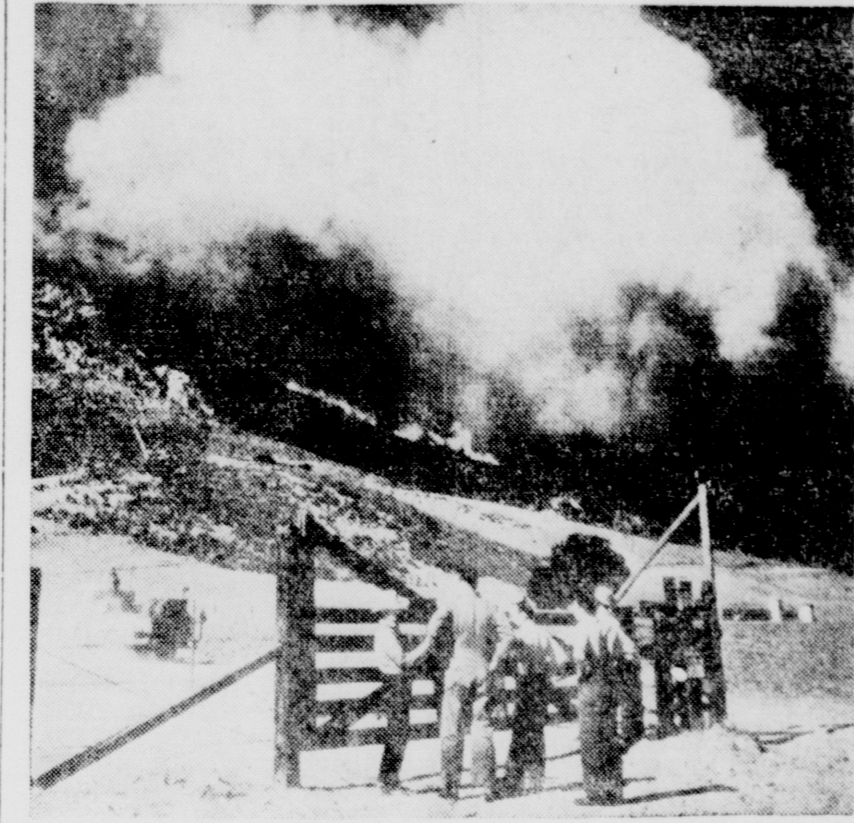

Assassination Bomb Misses President Of Ecuador By Minutes

Quito, Ecuador, Nov. 4 (AP)—Ecuador's President Galo Plaza Lasso is alive today because assassination plotters miscalculated by a matter of minutes when he would cross a bridge.

The government, disclosing last night that an attempt had been made on his life, gave this account of the incident:

President Plaza journeyed along the Pan American highway Tuesday night. He was en route to the opening of a regional patriotic festival in the southern city of Cuenca.

His automobile rolled across a bridge. A few minutes after the car had passed a time bomb exploded demolishing the structure. The president was not injured. There was no indication of what group had plotted the assassination attempt.

Rowdy Mayoral Race Winds Up In New York

By ED CREAGH

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—One of the rowdiest mayoral campaigns in New York city's history roared into its final stages today.

With party lines hopelessly snarled, three candidates fired volley after volley of accusation and denial. And each claimed a winning hold on the record number of 2,773,677 qualified to vote in next Tuesday's election.

Democratic Mayor William O'Dwyer, 59, the Irish-born ex-cop who is seeking reelection, called the campaign "the dirtiest we've ever had."

Certainly it's among the noisiest. Fighting tooth-and-nail against O'Dwyer, and against each other are:

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, 46, fiery candidate of the American labor party and boss of a tightly-organized East Harlem district. The Communists are all-out in support of his rallies, street movies and door-to-door campaigning.

Neighborhood Morris, 47, socially upper-crust choice of (a) the Republicans, (b) the pro-labor liberal party, and (c) the City Fusion Party, which campaigns for good government on a non-partisan basis.

Normally the city is Democratic. But Marcantonio claims he'll poll 800,000 votes and win. Best off-the-record estimate of politicians is that he would beat O'Dwyer and elect Morris if he got 500,000. If he gets less, O'Dwyer is figured to win.

Sheriff Ousted In Lake County

Governor Finds Long List Of Misconduct

Lansing, Nov. 4 (AP)—Sheriff Edward A. Engel of Lake county was removed from office yesterday by Governor Williams.

Williams said flatly he had found Engel guilty of "official misconduct, willful neglect of duty, misfeasance and malfeasance."

The sheriff's ouster was effective yesterday. His successor, under the law, will be chosen by the Lake county probate judge, prosecutor and clerk.

Engel, a Republican, was re-elected to his second term a year ago and would have served until the end of 1950. His ouster was demanded by a local citizens committee, in which organized sportsmen played a major part.

They objected to what they said was his interference with conservation law enforcement.

Williams said he found Engel guilty of using his office to "shake down" liquor licensees, interfering in a criminal prosecution in behalf of the defendant, attempting to pick a jury friendly to a defendant, changing the name of an auto title, allowing a prisoner to leave the state to participate in a boxing match, leaving the county jail unattended, assaulting prisoners, helping raise bail for a prisoner and frequenting a restaurant where liquor was sold illegally.

President Gets Real Welcome In Twin Cities

Stump Tour Planned For Fair Dealers

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Aboard train enroute to Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—President Truman's determination to stump the country again next year to elect "fair dealers" to congress was strengthened today by his reception in Minnesota.

White House aides said he was elated by his welcome yesterday at Minneapolis and St. Paul where police estimated 400,000 persons lined the sidewalks to cheer him along a 20 mile parade route.

An applauding crowd the police estimated at 12,000 whooped it up again last night in St. Paul's civic auditorium when he gave a foretaste of the 1950 campaign with a slashing attack on "The Propaganda of the Reactionaries."

The President is convinced that he can help elect liberals to congress by conducting the sort of campaign he made in 1948 through back platform appearances in key states, one close adviser told reporters.

People Behind Him

Mr. Truman stressed two predictions in his talk last night that the 81st congress will enact a "good deal more" of his "fair deal" before quitting its next session and that there will be a heavier vote in 1950 elections for those with his views.

He called his civil rights, federal aid to education, national health insurance and other "general welfare" proposals the path to future growth.

Big Three Meets Soon To Discuss German Problems

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—The foreign ministers of the United States, France and Britain will meet next week in Paris to discuss German problems.

British fears that the western powers were drifting apart on German policy reportedly brought about the meeting.

Some spade work for the session already has been done in recent talks at Paris and London.

Reports that plans were afoot for the Big 3 to conclude had spread here, but first actual confirmation came from the British foreign office in London today.

A foreign office spokesman said the meeting probably would begin next Wednesday or Thursday.

The date depends on when Secretary of State Acheson can reach Paris to join British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman.

Top U. S. Reds Go Free On Bail And Harlem Has Riot

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Eleven top American Communists went free on bond last night. Less than three hours later a brick-hurling Harlem mob felled six police in a wild welcome-home for one of the Red leaders.

The Communist bigwigs signed bail bonds totalling $260,000 and walked out to a freedom that may last a year until the U. S. supreme court reviews their recent conviction on charges of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Defendant Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., Negro city councilman, met a roaring welcome when he made a street-corner speech in Harlem a short time later. With him were defendants Henry Winston, also a Negro, and Robert Thompson.

Negro singer Paul Robeson, leftist target of two recent Peekskill, N. Y., riots, also spoke. The government had asked no less than $1,000,000 in bail to guarantee that the 11 Communists will be around to serve their prison terms if they lose their appeals.

However, the U. S. circuit court of appeals set bail at $30,000 each for four of the Communists, who have bail-jumping records or are deportable aliens. The bond for the other seven was fixed at $20,000 each.

The Civil Rights Congress, tabbed subversive by the U. S. attorney general's office, immediately put up treasury bonds as bail. It took nearly 10 hours, however, to satisfy the government that the group had a right to use the bonds for bail.

The appeals court pointed out that even the government concedes that the Communists' case raises "a substantial question" as to the constitutionality of the Smith Act.

The 11 were convicted under the act of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government. All were fined $10,000 each. Ten drew prison sentences of five years. The other got three years.

All are appealing their conviction by a federal jury last Oct. 14 and the sentences meted out Oct. 21 by Trial Judge Harold R. Medina.

Judge Medina refused the 11 bail while they were making their appeals.

The appeals court overruled him and gave the Communists their freedom until the case goes through the higher courts. The government said the process might take a year.

In a 25-day tour that carried him 9,500 miles through this country and Canada, Nehru has proclaimed neutrality in the cold war. But he has outlined strategy which the west seems to like although Russia did not.

In more than 40 public speeches he called for peace; said he doesn't like Communism; said he finds Americans friendly and peace-loving, and said India is willing to fight if aggressors imperil human freedom.

What has he promised?

In speech after speech he promised friendship to those who will respond with generous and non-demanding friendship; and fair treatment to American investors willing to help his country industrialize and reach for the prosperity economy to which it aspires.

He told audiences his dollar-short country needs wheat to feed the poverty stricken masses and wants to pay for it; two big steel mills it lacks the dollars to equip; hydroelectric development and technical skills which it also lacks the dollars to buy.

Firmly he said India is not asking for a handout but hopes government and private investors can see a way to cooperate with his country in getting these things on terms it can afford.

Ten Airmen Dead In Blazing B-29 Crash At Bermuda

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 4 (AP)—A B-29 Superfortress, crippled by engine trouble, crashed into the sea a mile from shore last night. The big plane caught fire after hitting the water and 10 of the 13 U. S. airmen aboard were killed.

Four crewmen managed to jump out after the stricken bomber plowed into the waves but one died of burns a few minutes later.

The three survivors, rescued by an oil company executive in a rowboat, were taken to the U. S. Base Hospital at nearby Kindley Field with minor injuries.

Bermudians watching from shore could hear the screams of the others trapped in the blazing ship.

The plane had turned back from a weather observation flight when one of its four engines failed. Landing altitude the disabled plane approached Kindley Field but was unable to land because another plane was on the runway.

Trend Toward Socialism Seen By Republicans

Truman Pushes His Security Program

By JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—A foreign policy split among Republicans became more apparent today, even as President Truman called on lawmakers to enact his fair deal program as a "stanch shield" against communism.

Mr. Truman told a Minnesota Centennial Exposition audience in St. Paul last night that the way to beat totalitarianism of every kind is to provide full education, health, security and civil rights for all Americans.

These things, he said, "are our stanch shield against communism and against every other form of totalitarianism. They are the means by which we will achieve the better world we seek."

Not All Helpful

In various foreign programs designed to stop the world spread of communism, the Truman administration has had the help of important Republican leaders. But not all of them, as was demonstrated yesterday by James S. Kemper of Chicago, in a letter resigning his job as treasurer of the Republican National committee. The letter was critical of the bi-partisan foreign policy.

Kemper's resignation was submitted, he said, because Republicans reserve funds had dropped below $50,000. He had made it clear in August, he said, he would quit any time the party allowed its treasury surplus to drop below $125,000.

Kemper said he fears the possibility of adoption here of some of the "socialist panaceas" to which Great Britain has resorted.

He went on to say that he had been hampered as party treasurer in taking a stand on issues when the GOP organization happened to be pursuing a different course.

"A case in point is our so-called bi-partisan foreign policy," Kemper said in a letter to guy George Gabrielson, GOP National chairman.

Britain Is Example

Observing that the policy "selected has been bi-partisan in genesis," Kemper continued.

"Everyone now seems pretty well agreed that Russian communism is a bad thing. And yet, as a result of our so-called bi-partisan foreign policy, Republicans have been asked to shower gifts on Britain."

"No one could view the British scene and not shudder at the thought of adopting socialist panaceas here."

Kemper's attack on the bi-partisan policy emphasized the split among Republicans over this issue.

Policy Group Junked By Adm. Sherman

By JERRY KORN

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—"OP 23," a naval agency said to have master-minded the admirals' bitter congressional attack on defense policies, has been junked by Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, new chief of naval operations.

Sherman, a strong supporter of armed forces unification, cracked down on the 30-man unit less than 24 hours after taking over from Adm. Louis Denfeld as the Navy's top uniformed officer.

There were reports some days ago that the Navy's inspector general, Rear Adm. Allen R. McCann, had seized the group's records and was investigating its activities.

"OP 23" was what the Navy called its operations division 23. Actually, its full title was organizational, research and policy division of the office of the chief of naval operations. It was headed by Capt. A. A. Burke, who testified in Congress against present Pentagon policy.

Sherman's order dissolved the group—which consisted of 13 officers and 17 enlisted men—and handed its work to other Navy agencies. OP 23's "principal functions" have been completed, a statement said.

The unit was said to have mapped strategy for the broadscale barrage laid down by top Navy officers in sensational hearings before the House Armed Services Committee last month.

The admirals charged that the Air Force was being strengthened at the Navy's expense, with resultant damage to national defense. Adm. Denfeld, one of those who testified, was fired soon after. Sherman was named to replace him.

Trial Run On Voting Machines Likely Here; Council Defers Action

Voting machines will get a trial run in at least two elections in Escanaba next year but whether the machines will be confined to two precincts or used in all of the city's eight precincts still remains to be settled.

The voting machine question stirred a heated controversy at the meeting of the city council Thursday night. Pros and cons on the question were presented by members of the council and by a number of local citizens. The debate brought out one of the largest audiences to attend a council meeting in many months.

City Clerk George Harvey opened the discussion with a report recommending the purchase of 17 voting machines at a total cost of $22,500.40, including freight charges to Escanaba. He pointed out that the machines would modernize the election procedure here, guarantee accurate tabulation of the vote and assure every elector that his vote would be counted. Machines would eliminate the possibility of spoiled ballots, Harvey said, and they also would provide an economy that ultimately would pay for the cost of the equipment. He proposed that the machines be paid for with a down payment of $2,500 and be liquidated in nine annual installments.

A letter endorsing voting machines by the Delta County Republican Committee was submitted by Harlan J. Yelland, secretary, and read by Mayor Robert LeMire. Yelland reported that the committee was virtually unanimous in supporting the voting machine purchase and that "machine voting is as necessary as stokers on a locomotive."

Councilman Peter Logan, who opposed the purchase of voting machines at this time, replied to Yelland's letter declared that it is humanly impossible to fire a modern locomotive by hand but that it is humanly possible to vote by paper ballots. Logan is locomotive engineer on the Chicago and North Western railway.

A similar letter of approval of voting machines was presented by Gerald J. Cleary, chairman of the Delta County Democratic committee, who wrote that the purchase of voting machines is a progressive step in accord with the program to keep Escanaba ahead.

A resolution from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented by Donald J. Guindon, secretary, also was read to the council. The Jaycees endorsed the purchase of machines to modernize the city election procedures.

A petition signed by approximately 200 persons opposing voting machines also was read by Mayor LeMire. The petitioners, circulated by Myron Legg, contended that the money required for voting machines could better be used for other purposes. Legg told the council that he could secure hundreds of additional signatures to the petitions.

"Machines Are Luxury" Charles Gessner, Escanaba merchant, spoke at length in opposition to the proposed purchase. He said that the assumption that voting machines would provide economy in elections is debatable and contended that insurance, depreciation, maintenance, etc., would cost the city

Mrs. Mata Semer Dies In Hospital After Long Illness

Mrs. Mata Semer, 61 of 328 North 15th street, widow of George Semer, died at 4:15 this morning at St. Francis hospital. She had been ill for the past four years.

She was born in Oconto, Wis., May 13, 1888, and lived in Escanaba nearly all of her life. Her husband died July 28, 1945.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. T. J. Smears, Gladstone; a niece, Mrs. Leon Raiche, Hermansville; and a nephew, William M. Smears, of East Point, Ga.

The body was taken to the Alto funeral home. Arrangements for the services have not been completed.

Marinette Student Killed By Bullet While Hunting

Marinette, Wis.—Katherine Ann Payne, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice (Bud) Payne, 1160 Cleveland avenue, Marinette, was killed about 9:30 a. m. Thursday when struck by a .22 rifle bullet while she and three Marinette high school companions were hunting 3 1/2 miles south of Marinette.

The students, all 15 years old, were out of school because Wisconsin teachers are attending the annual teachers convention in Milwaukee.

Miss Payne, Jean Malinstad, Main street; Robert Baumgarten, 1116 Parnell street; and Roger Nicklaus, 1339 Pierce avenue, went hunting squirrels Thursday morning. They went to the Walter Nicklaus property in the town of Peshigo off the Pierce avenue road.

election next spring and in the fall elections next year, but no action was taken on the matter until the city attorney presents the council with a legal opinion concerning the divided use of voting machines and paper ballots.

Councilman Nevin Reynolds said that he was heartened by the great public interest shown in the voting machine issue and expressed a hope that the citizenry will take similar interest in the city's water problem which, he said, is of much greater importance than the voting machine issue.

The voting machines can be rented for $150 per machine for a year and used in as many elections as are held during that period. If the city later decides to purchase the machines, the rental payments can be applied to the purchase price, Gustafson said. He recommended that the council rent sufficient machines to equip all precincts for a fair test.

Mayor Robert LeMire expressed himself as favorable to the use of voting machines in Escanaba.

Paul Van Damme First In U. P. Potato Show; Delta Queen Reigns

Newberry, Mich., Nov. 4 (AP)—Upper Michigan farmers displayed their prize potatoes here last night at the 20th annual Upper Peninsula potato show.

Paul Van Damme, of Cornish in Marquette county, won top honors in the table stock competition. He had a record-breaking yield of 1033.15 bushels per acre. He received a $500 bond.

D. J. Wood, of Newberry, took first place in the certified seed potato contest. He raised 833.9 bushels per acre.

Betty Gustafson, 16, of Ensign, was crowned Upper Peninsula potato queen. She won out over seven other contestants representing Luce, Schoolcraft, Dickinson, Menominee, Marquette, Gogebic and Iron counties. Betty has been a member of the 4-H club for seven years.

David Hamel of Marquette won first place in the 4-H division of the contest with a yield of 695 bushels per acre. In a field of about 4 entries, Hamel placed first and Jerome Allen of Schoolcraft county took second place with a yield of 475 bushels. Allen was awarded a trip to the National 4-H contest in Chicago by the Michigan Potato Growers association.

Delta Winners
Jules Van Damme of St. Nicholas placed second in tablestock competition with a yield of 705 bushels per acre, in a field of 67 entries. Ernest Hamel of Champlain ranked third, John Verbrige of St. Nicholas fourth with 665 bushels, George Terrien of Bark River fifth with 656 bushels, Gerald and Valerie Van Damme of St. Nicholas sixth with 664 bushels. Other entrants who placed in the annual potato show were the Van Damme brothers of St. Nicholas, ninth place and Rene Verbrige of St. Nicholas, tenth.

In the certified contest, in which D. J. Woods of Newberry was first in a field of 27 entries, Richard brothers of McMillan placed second with a yield of 786 bushels per acre; Frank Falkels of Cornish third with 748 bushels; Earl Solander of Chassell fourth with 714 bushels; and John Palmer of Stephenson fifth with 712 bushels.

Frank Barron of Flat Rock placed eighth with 660 bushels per acre. Twenty-five of the 27 entrants had a yield of more than 500 bushels per acre.

The new record set by Paul Van Damme of Watson is expected to

City Accepts Housing Units

Takes Over Control Of Vets Project

The City of Escanaba will take over control of the Veterans Housing project under terms of a resolution adopted by the city council Thursday night. Authority to take over the project and assume ownership of the buildings is provided in a law adopted by the U. S. congress at its recent session.

The buildings are now owned by the federal government and controlled by the Public Housing administration. The city has 13 double housing units, providing housing facilities for 26 families. Several of the buildings are unoccupied and the city recently was authorized to utilize the vacant units for city purposes.

Rentals less maintenance costs have been forwarded to the federal government. Under the new arrangement in which the city will acquire ownership of the buildings, the city will be able to retain the rentals for its own use.

The city council Thursday deferred approval of an engineering contract with Townsend, Conser and Associates of Chicago for engineering work on the proposed city water filtration plant. The council indicated a desire to await completion of the engineering survey now being made by the Chicago company before signing a contract for other phases of the project.

Other actions taken by the council at its long meeting Thursday include the following:

Approved the transfer of $5500 in the city electrical budget for construction of new street lights. The money is a part of a $75,000 appropriation for a sub-station and other electric construction that cannot be completed in the present fiscal year.

Tabled for further study a proposal to exchange city owned land in a state forest for property in the city owned by the state conservation department.

Referred to the city recreation department for further study a request by the Escanaba Hawks hockey team for the purchase of hockey boards for an outdoor rink. The hockey club offered to amortize the cost over a period of five years.

Accepted the low bid of the Four Wheel Drive company for a new five ton truck to replace a unit that is worn out. The purchase price is $7600, less $525 trade-in.

Accepted the low bid of the Brackett Chevrolet company for a new police car at a differential bid of $930, including allowance for trade-in.

Set Dec. 5 as the date for first payment of city street paving work thus far accomplished, with a 30 day grace period for payment without penalty.

Received a request for abandonment of 12th avenue south, west from the 17th street intersection.

Received a request from the operator of the Munising-Escanaba bus line for permission to make downtown stops in Escanaba.

Established voting precincts for the special election Nov. 10, and fixed the size of election boards at three inspectors and a gatekeeper for each precinct. The wage scale was fixed at $8 for inspectors and $5 for gatekeepers.

Instructed the city manager to notify owners of dilapidated buildings that the buildings must be repaired or dismantled.

Authorized the appearance of the city band in the retail merchants' Christmas opening parade.

Heard a protest from Adolph J. Roman, 606 S. 15th street, that the city has failed to give preference to local residents in awarding contracts for city projects.

Adopted resolutions for assessments for sanitary sewers in Block 13, City Center additional No. 31 authorized paying 11th avenue south between 13th and 14th streets; and authorized alley improvement in the alley between Ludington street and First avenue south, between 10th and 11th

47 Cases Of Scalp Ringworm In Escanaba Primary Grades

In an effort to combat the spread of scalp ringworm among school children of primary grades in Escanaba, parents are advised to have their children examined and to shampoo their children's hair at least once weekly.

The Delta-Menominee County Health association reports that a weekly shampoo finished off with a vinegar rinse and other sound, hygienic practices will go a long way toward preventing ringworm.

Forty-seven cases of ringworm have been found in the Escanaba schools, most of them in the third and fourth grades and 90 per cent are boys, Miss Cora Pelletier, school nurse, reports.

Ground Water Levels At Lowest Ebb On Record In Michigan

Lansing, (AP)—Michigan ground water levels are at the lowest ebb on record, the conservation department geological survey reported.

From calculations of the levels in sample wells, the survey set the October level at 1.09 feet on an arbitrary scale devised for the purpose.

This measurement is 14 lower than the reading in September, which at that time was the lowest on record. The reading was also .99 feet lower than the ten-year October average.

Department hydrologists blame the low level on the small amounts of rain and snow which fell in the state before vegetation came to life in the spring.

They emphasized that with ordinary weather conditions this winter, the level could quickly return to normal.

Acorn Crop Short For Deer Feeding

Lansing, (AP)—A poor acorn crop may mean that hunters used to getting their bucks on oak ridges or plains where acorns are usually plentiful will be disappointed this year.

Conservation department deer specialists warn that a late frost killed off most oak blossoms and that deer are more likely to be found scattered over their summer range.

Sky Pilot Helps Tune In On Lord

By HALE BOYLE

New York, (AP)—The Rev. Everett C. Parker used to be a press agent for Chicago livestock shows. Now he's an advance agent for the Lord—via radio. He sparks religious publicity over the airwaves.

"This means something," he said. "That's why I'm doing it. The other thing" — his former work — as a press agent — "only meant money."

At 36 this energetic minister is director of the Protestant radio commission. This organization of the nation's leading Protestant church groups is spending $172,000 this year for 800 religious radio programs to be heard over some 1,000 stations.

The programs are organized by Rev. Parker and a staff of the. How he decided to embark on this unusual career is quite a story.

"I had no particular religious background — and in college I lost any religion I had left," he said.

He sold doughnuts from door-to-door, worked as a chef in a Chicago cafeteria, then started a publicity firm. Then he became program director of a Hammond, Ind., radio station.

One day the owner asked him to go out and find a commercial sponsor for a Lenten program.

"How can anybody sell a religious program?" Parker demanded.

"Well, try it anyway," said the owner.

Parker finally got a utilities company to act as sponsor. With his flair for drama, Parker made the program a popular feature. It lasted 4½ years and was sponsored by a laundry and a cemetery, as well as by the utilities company.

"I found out the influence a church has on a community, and the things a minister can do that no one else can do," Parker said.

"So I decided to make the whole plunge—to go into the ministry myself."

He was graduated from the Chicago Theological Seminary Magna Cum Laude. Awarded a fellowship in religious radio, he spent a year with the NBC network. He was offered a permanent post with NBC but decided his real wish was to devote himself to the ministry.

In the three years since then he has become a leading authority in religious radio, and held workshops at several universities to teach the subject to other ministers.

Reach Stay-at-Homes

"Our job isn't those who already go to church," he said. "We try to reach those who don't go."

"It's the job of religion to go out and reach the people—that's the teaching of Jesus. And with radio we can reach them."

The Rev. Parker has been a trailblazer in creating religious programs that avoid dull sermonizing but carry a real spiritual impact because they deal with problems close to the hearts of listeners. One of his innovations is a TV puppet show that tells Bible tales for children.

His creed:

"People today are confused and looking for something to tie their loyalties to. If you can show them the solace and personal satisfaction religion brings, you are doing them a favor."

The best writers in radio write the programs for him at a fraction of their usual price, but he insists on paying them, also insists on paying actors on the programs their union minimum.

"We paid Ingrid Bergman $32 for one show," Parker smiled. "On a commercial show she'd probably get $5,000."

No money is paid for station time. Most stations are glad to air the programs as a public service.

The minister himself could earn a top salary in the field of educational radio. But he's happy in the job he chose.

"Yes, very happy," he said. "I feel that our country must have religion to survive. Countries that don't have it eventually fall."

Fred Johnson Designs Sets For Minstrel

Fred Johnson, Escanaba Kiwanis club president, designed the two settings which will be used in the annual Kiwanis Minstrel, to be presented at William W. Oliver auditorium on Nov. 5, 7, and 8.

The first is a plantation scene showing part of a large white colonial home, with rock walls bounding the garden. Most of this set is an outdoor scene and will feature outdoor furniture.

"Kentucky Derby races" will be the theme of the minstrel, and the setting for the second part, which follows an audience participation feature, utilizes the traditional minstrel circle. A large wooden horseshoe will dominate the back stage area, and the back row of the minstrel circle will be about six feet high.

A crew of 18 high school boys will change the settings during the "oleo." A variety of colors and special lighting effects, including considerable "black lighting" will be used.

BIG SNOW COMING!

2,000,000 MOTORISTS TO BE STUCK IN MUD OR SNOW

Basis for this forecast is the American Automobile Association's report on the number of motorists who got stuck in mud, snow, or sand during 1948.

Get this B.F. Goodrich tire and keep rolling!

BFG Mud-Snow tires have a rugged tread with extra deep cleats that dig into slippery snow or sticky mud—give you a tractor-like pull in either forward or reverse. The tread keeps its grip because it's self-cleaning—won't clog or pick up gravel.

EASY RIDING, TOO. B.F. Goodrich Mud-Snow tires run smoothly on the open road—the twin-strip center riding bar cuts down road pound, gives longer tread wear, helps keep you from skidding on wet pavement. SAVES YOUR OTHER TIRES! The extra thick, husky tread is good winter wear on your regular tires, keep them in better shape for extra mileage during summer months. Play it safe—get your BFG Mud-Snows today and avoid being stuck in mud or snow.

ALL YOU REALLY NEED IS ONE EXTRA TIRE

Instead of the five regular tires you now have, you need only a total of six tires—four regulars plus two Mud-Snows. One of your Mud-Snow tires is your spare in summer.

Why Should A Nazi Teach At Tech?

THE demand of Rep. Bennett, congressman from the 12th district of Michigan which embraces the western half of the Upper Peninsula, that an avowed former Nazi, E. V. Sittler, a professor at Michigan Tech, be deported to Germany will be generously supported by a majority of Michigan residents.

Sittler not only was a member of the Nazi party in Germany during the war but he worked vigorously in the Nazi propaganda bureau throughout the war, writing scripts for the German radio. He was an American citizen by birth, a native of Delaware, Ohio. He went to Germany in 1939, when war on the continent was imminent, and obtained German citizenship in 1940. Two years later he formally joined the Nazi party.

Why a man of this caliber, only a step removed from being a traitor, should be employed as a professor at an American college is something that loyal American citizens find it difficult to comprehend. Rep. Bennett said that the authorities at Michigan Tech evidently were unaware of Sittler's German war record, but if this is true it indicates that the school is extremely lax in checking the background of its applicants for teaching positions. Sittler was imprisoned in Germany by American authorities in 1945 at the end of the war and remained in custody until 1946 when he was brought to the United States as a witness in treason trials. Even the most routine check of Sittler's qualifications would surely have disclosed these facts.

In announcing that he will press for Sittler's deportation, Rep. Bennett commented that it would be lamentable to permit this former Nazi party member to pursue a career as a class room professor in an American college. That, we believe, is an understatement. It would be more than lamentable. It would be outrageous.

New Train Schedule Should Be Improved

CHICAGO AND NORTH WESTERN passenger train No. 224, which now leaves Escanaba at 3:30 p. m. CST will leave at 12:45 p. m. daily, beginning next Monday, Nov. 7 and will make connections at Green Bay with the Valley 400 streamliner for Chicago, which leaves Green Bay at 4:30 p. m. This train arrives in Milwaukee at 6:55 p. m. and in Chicago at 8:30 p. m., all times being Central Standard.

The schedule change provides a distinct improvement in passenger service from Escanaba to Chicago. Train 224 previously did comparatively little passenger business because the train is slow and not modern. By making connection with the crack Valley 400 at Green Bay, however, the schedule should encourage more passenger service.

Whether the mail carried on 224 will be transferred to the Valley 400 at Green Bay is still uncertain. If it is transferred, it will be a decided improvement in existing schedules. An airmail letter dropped into the postoffice here at noon could then be dispatched at Chicago for outgoing mail planes arriving in New York the following morning. At least airmail letters should be transferred to the Valley 400, if first class and other mail is not.

Hunting Safety Is Problem Of Education

A number of Upper Peninsula schools plan to close for one or two days for the opening of the deer hunting season so that teachers and students can go hunting and to free other students to help with the household chores while the parents are hunting.

The policy, which is expanding rapidly in the Upper Peninsula, is justified provided parents and schools utilize the opportunity to educate the children in gun and hunting safety. The Michigan law requires that persons between the ages of 14 and 17 be accompanied by a parent, guardian or some person over 17 authorized by a parent or guardian, when hunting deer. Persons under the age of 14 are not permitted to hunt deer.

It is inviting disaster to send a youngster into the woods to hunt deer without first educating that youth in the principles of hunting safety. In the past the schools generally have frowned on the practice of students taking off to go hunting but the youngsters went anyway—each year in increasing numbers. In recognition of the realities of the situation, many of the schools are closing entirely for one or two days at the start of the deer season.

Perhaps the time is not far away when schools will actually sponsor courses in hunting safety and help to teach youngsters how to shoot and carry a rifle or shotgun without endangering the lives of other persons. The responsibility for this education primarily belongs to the parents, of course, but too many parents are ignoring it. When schools close to permit their students to go hunting, they are encouraging greater participation in hunting by youngsters and consequently must eventually assume a measure of responsibility in the problem of teaching safety in the woods.

Nationalism Clogs European Recovery

PAUL G. HOFFMAN, Marshal Plan chief, has laid down conditions for further U. S. aid to Europe that ECA countries may find difficult to meet.

He has told them that if they want to be sure of getting more money in 1950 they had better register substantial progress by next January in knocking down national tariff barriers and other obstacles to free trade.

Failure to achieve economic unity in Europe can only mean "disaster for nations and poverty for peoples," the ECA boss declared in Paris.

Hoffman is a hard-headed executive. He would not sound so serious a note without warrant. That he has used this tone suggests he has carefully appraised the temper of congress and decided that ECA is in for a rough time unless Marshall Plan countries show some concrete results quickly.

But from now until January is hardly much leeway for this formidable task. The European nations have known from the start of the Marshall Plan that measures of unity were expected of them. Yet in almost two years they have made virtually no real strides toward that goal.

In view of this evident inertia, it is asking a great deal to call for a solid demonstration of economic collaboration in so short a span. Of course such progress is not impossible. But experience to date leads one to doubt that anything less than a severe shock will produce the results the United States is urging.

It is conceivable that genuine advances toward unity may not come until the Marshall Plan countries understand that warnings such as Hoffman's are not mere words. An actual cutting off of funds would certainly drive the lesson home. So might a statement from Hoffman or other high officials that an end to ECA will be proposed if Europe fails to take action soon.

Some foreign affairs experts may contend that however desirable unity is, this country has no right to insist upon it as a condition of continued assistance. But such argument is somewhat beside the point if congress has actually determined to make that condition. ECA cannot live without annual congressional sanction. Europe must face the political realities of America.

None of the European countries is denying the wisdom of economic unity. All say they subscribe to the principle. What stops them from acting?

Basically, the trouble is that they are trapped by conflicting currents. They recognize the growing need for continent-wide solutions to their economic problems. But they feel heavy pressure from the long habit of nationalist thinking. This latter exerts a continuing drag upon any effort to break down national borders.

Others are said to have gone to China where along with Russian observers they are attached to headquarters of Communist military leaders. According to one source, Von Paulus himself is in Peking, although another report has it that he has been relegated to comparative obscurity in Russia because he did not fulfill the expectations of Soviet leaders.

CONSISTENCY
(Wall Street Journal)

The Fair Deal, in the opinion of Federal Security Administrator Ewing, would make possible that pursuit of happiness described in the Declaration of Independence as an inalienable right.

This is, of course, an impertinence to the Declaration's author, who believed the individual had the best chance of pursuing happiness when a strong central government was not pursuing him.

But it is not particularly surprising, coming from a spokesman of an administration which tells us that peace is won by arms and that if we spend more than we earn we will all be richer. It is perfectly consistent to say that we can enjoy the rights of the Declaration of Independence only by giving up our independence.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?
Q. Is the tower of Babel so called because of the "babble" which resulted from the confusion of tongues? This question has our Sunday school split wide open, so please restore us to peace and harmony.

A. That the tower was named for the babbling of tongues is a superstition that has long endured. It also is responsible for the mispronunciation of Babel as "babble." The correct pronunciation is: BAY-b'l.

Bable is the native name of Babylon, and evolved from the Assyrian-Babylonian word Babilu, meaning "gate of God."

For centuries scholars have puzzled over an apparent mistake in translation in Genesis 11:9: "Therefore is the name of it (the tower) called Babel; because the Lord did there confound the language of all the earth. . . . The concordance of the Authorized Version interprets Babel as meaning "confusion," which, of course, is its modern figurative meaning.

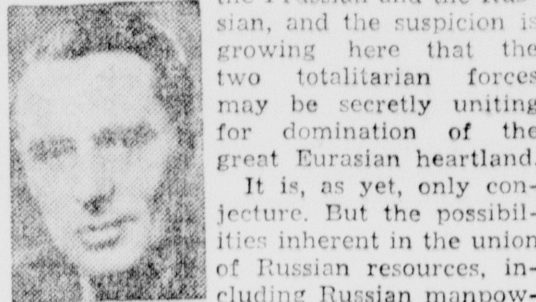

The Encyclopedia Britannica says, "the name 'Babel,' however, gives a totally different interpretation. . . for it is derived from bab, a gate, and ilu, God. The 'confusion of tongues' would be more correctly indicated by 'balal,' a Semitic word meaning 'to confuse.'"

The word bable is not related to either the name Babel or the Semitic word balal. Bable is from the Middle English babilen, "to prate, chatter," and which is thought to have evolved from the Sanskrit balbala, "foreign, strange."

At any rate, careful speakers will want to distinguish carefully between Babel and the word bable. Even when bable (not capitalized) is used as a noun meaning, "a place or state of noisy confusion," it should be pronounced: "BAY-b'l, to rhyme with "fable, gable."

Prussians And Russians Join

BY MARQUIS CHILDS
Berlin.—From this farthest outpost you can look a long way to the East. Conquest of the East has long been the goal of both the Prussian and the Russian, and the suspicion is growing here that the two totalitarian forces may be secretly uniting for domination of the great Eurasian heartland.

It is, as yet, only conjecture. But the possibilities inherent in the union of Russian resources, including Russian manpower, and German efficiency and technology, each with its own system of ruthless and total controls, is appalling.

In the immediate present is Premier Stalin's bid to the German people on the basis of unlimited nationalism. Nazis in the eastern zone not only have been given full rights but have been put into positions of power in the new government created by the Russians. One example is George Dertinger, foreign minister in the new setup, who helped build Fascism in Germany.

NEW GERMAN ARMY
In the recent past the Soviet Union formed the Free Germany committee around Field Marshal Von Paulus and other high officers captured at Stalingrad. They were used for propaganda appeals to the German people during the war and rumor has linked them to the formation of a new German army in the eastern zone.

But back of this is earlier history of collaboration between the Soviet Union and Germany. After World War I it was Junker officers who helped to direct the formation of the Russian army.

It was always the concept of one of the most powerful figures in the revival of German might—General Von Seeckt—that collaboration with the Russians was essential. As Von Seeckt argued on every possible occasion, such collaboration was necessary, above all, for the development of the great industrial complex in China. Von Seeckt was largely responsible for sending a military mission, headed by General Van Falkenhausen, to help train Chiang Kai-shek's army.

"Give me one hundred thousand German civil servants and one hundred thousand officers and men and I will show how to organize China," Von Seeckt often said.

Today there are signs that new collaboration may be developing. Some leaders in the Free Germany committee have come back to lead extremist parties in Western Germany. A conspicuous example is General Vincenz Mueller, head of the Nazi-like National Democratic Union.

JOIN CHINESE COMMUNISTS

Others are said to have gone to China where along with Russian observers they are attached to headquarters of Communist military leaders. According to one source, Von Paulus himself is in Peking, although another report has it that he has been relegated to comparative obscurity in Russia because he did not fulfill the expectations of Soviet leaders.

Back of all this speculation is the solid fact that the owners and managers of German industry want to find an outlet for their products and their skills in Eastern Europe and Asia.

These are the same owners and managers who helped to build up Hitler. They are believed to be the source of continuing feelers for understanding with the new east German state, which is the creature of the Soviet Union.

Incidentally, major forces opposing such an agreement are the Social Democrats and the trade union leaders. These men who are truly democratic and anti-Communist could never come to terms with an utterly subservient regime master-minded by Moscow.

It is easy, of course, to read too much theory into what is happening today. The Prussian officer class surviving World War II has only one object in life, and that is to fight. It is natural, therefore, that they should seek an outlet for their evil talents in China where a war is going on.

ONE SERIOUS OBSTACLE

A serious obstacle to a political understanding or even to a working agreement between the Soviet bosses and the Prussian military class is the fact that a large slice of eastern Germany went to Poland and another slice was annexed by the Soviet Union. For Moscow to try to reverse that partition would be to create a dozen Titos in eastern Europe. And even in a temporary partnership it would be difficult or impossible to suppress the German nationalistic desire for the return of such cities as Breslau and Stettin.

Stalin, as a completely uncompromising realist, must know that the Soviet Union, does not have the technology to direct the organization of chaotic China. He knows, too, that German scientists have contributed heavily to Russian development since the end of the war.

So, if the decision rested with the Kremlin, the probability would be for a carefully calculated deal providing effective collaboration.

That was the kind of deal Stalin approved in August, 1939, when Von Ribbentrop flew to Moscow to sign the Russo-German pact.

That pact surprised and shocked some naive travellers on the Communist line. Shocked them so severely they scrambled off in dismay and despair. But it was in complete accord with the power concept of the totalitarian state.

Q. Is the musical instrument, the ocarina, so called because it has eight (octo) finger holes?

Answer: Sorry, no. Ocarina is an Italian word meaning "little goose," from the instrument's fancied resemblance to the body of a goose.

Hollywood (NEA)—Ginger Rogers surprised a lot of people, including herself, I think, when she accepted that role in "Storm Center" which Lauren Bacall turned down. It wasn't so long ago that Ginger wouldn't even consider a script that wasn't tailor-written for her. A script rejected by another star would have been out of the question.

Lauren is still issuing statements, hoping to get Warner Brothers mad enough to tear up her contract.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Washington.—What Secretary of the Navy Matthews is up against in the demotion of Adm. Louis Denfeld is not Den-field's testimony before congress, but the basic question of whether the navy department is to be run by a civilian.

Except for stubborn old Josephus Daniels, who was thoroughly hated by the admirals, and Charles Edison, who was finally eased out by the admirals, there has been no secretary of the navy in the last 50 years who has really dominated the navy department.

In a previous column it was shown how Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was constantly short-circuited or ignored by the admirals. One thing that upset Knox was the terrible submarine tragedy and the navy's inability to cope with it during the first year of the war.

In World War I not a single American soldier was lost from submarine attack while crossing the Atlantic. In World War II the death toll was so great that it was kept a strict military secret, and only afterward was it known that 4,400 American troops needlessly drowned. And this did not include merchant seamen.

In addition, the sinking of merchant vessels even one year after Pearl Harbor hit the sickening total of 1,000,000 tons per month. Nazi U-boats lurked along the American coast with brazen effrontery; prowled near the beaches of Atlantic City, Jacksonville and Miami.

Despite the secrecy, the American public knew that something was wrong with the navy's defenses. But few people ever knew what went on inside.

Secretary Knox stormed, caajoed, and pleaded. But he could not quickly surmount the mistake the admirals made in concentrating on big battleships at the expense of the unglamorous escort vessel.

Nor could he remedy the fact that no provision had been made for enough sonic or listening devices, or to train men to use them.

Another trouble was that the navy had plans for nine different types of escort vessels, and the admirals could not decide which was best.

Finally it took a civilian, Charles E. Wilson, head of the War Production Board, to settle the question. He called in naval architect William F. Gibbs, who recommended a design not unlike the British Corvette.

But this was not done until almost one year after Pearl Harbor.

DUKE OF WINDSOR INTERVENES

The admirals were also urged to borrow submarine experts from the British, who had gone through two years of fighting Nazi subs, and just about had them licked. However, only one British naval officer was invited to advise the American navy.

Subsequently the Duke of Windsor and Fred Searles of the War Shipping Administration stepped in to persuade the navy to adopt the protective device which ultimately defeated the submarine.

The device, invented by Lieut. Comdr. Carl Herluf Holm, a Danish-born American naval officer, got bogged down between three navy bureaus, all rivals—naval ordnance laboratory, bureau of ships, and bureau of ordnance. Between them, the invention remained stymied for two whole years—while American ships and lives were being sent daily to the bottom of the sea.

It was Fred Searles, who, learning of the invention from the duke, warned the admirals that if they did not immediately use this anti-submarine weapon, the maritime commission would use it independently.

That was how the most important anti-submarine device of the entire war came into being. It illustrates what Frank Knox was up against in his struggle to run a department where the admirals kept him in the dark, ignored him, or went over his head to the White House.

FORRESTAL GOT WISE

At the time Frank Knox died, the admirals made it a practice to meet in formal session, show him a few routine cables, then adjourn. Later they handled the really important war cables which Knox never knew existed.

When James Forrestal became secretary of the navy, his former aide, Capt. John Gingrich, tipped him off to this practice, suggested that Forrestal go up to the communications room and look over the other telegrams the admirals held out on him.

This Forrestal did. Simultaneously, Captain Gingrich got disciplined. The top brass relegated him to the innocuous job of chief of personnel at Miami, Fla., where he could not tip off the secretary of the navy any more.

This was the turning point in Forrestal's running of the navy—not unlike Secretary Matthews' crisis with Denfeld today. He ordered Gingrich back to Washington as deputy chief of personnel, appointed Admiral Denfeld chief of personnel, and things went smoothly for Forrestal from that point until the grueling debate over unification set in.

But when Forrestal finally sided against the admirals in favor of unification, some of them never forgave him. They worked against him in much the way they have opposed Secretary Matthews. And in the last two months of his life, Forrestal, emotionally upset by the bickering, sometimes broke down in the middle of conferences and wept over the fact that his friends in the navy had turned against him.

NAVAL MERRY-GO-ROUND

Adm. Arthur Radford, when leaving Washington for Pearl Harbor, told disciples: "We're in this thing to stay and we'll win or sink." Radford is the admiral who touched off the navy revolt. . . . Operation 23, the navy propaganda unit, has started a whispering campaign against Adm. Forrest Sherman. They call him the "Quisling of the Navy"—for supporting unification. . . . Everyone expected fireworks at the first meeting of the joint chiefs of staff after General Bradley had fired his "Fancy Dancs" barrage at the admirals.

Railroads Urge Safe Crossings

Motorists Are Asked To Be Careful

Lansing—Michigan railroads today asked the state's motorists to increase the practice of "Cross Crossings Cautiously" now that winter, the season of most numerous crossing crashes, is approaching.

The request was voiced by the Michigan Railroads Association which points out that mid-November to mid-February, especially December, is the worst period for rail crossing smash-ups, due to less favorable driving conditions and longer periods of darkness, adding that such accidents are more frequent on Saturday, Sunday and Monday than on mid-week days.

"The sharp increase in auto-rail accidents in the winter months need not be an everlasting phenomenon," the association states. "The rule of the greater the danger the greater the need for common sense" could eliminate the greater frequency in winter of these accidents. And that same sensible rule would sharply cut such smash-ups through the year."

Showing how much motorist carelessness plays in grade crossing collisions the railroad association quotes ICC reports that 96% of motorists involved in these accidents in the first half of 1949 were thoroughly familiar with the crossings at which accidents occurred; only 4% of motorists were "through" drivers; 39% were from the communities in which the accidents happened, and 57% were from nearby communities; in most accidents the drivers failed to observe or heed warning signs and signals, some even driving around gates and watchmen or through warning signals that had halted other traffic; one-fourth of the motorists actually ran into the sides of trains or locomotives already on the crossings; in two-thirds of the cases the trains were standing still or going less than 25 miles an hour. Most of the crashes happened in daylight hours, though 21% occurred between midnight and 6 a. m. when traffic is lightest and fastest.

Perkins

LaVergne-Mitchell
Perkins—Of interest here is the wedding of Phyllis Ann LaVergne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi LaVergne of Plymouth, Mich., former Perkins residents and Mildred Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Mitchell, which took place at Our Lady of Good Counsel church in Plymouth. The bride is a niece of Mrs. William Trudell and Mrs. Louis Miron.

The service was read by Father William P. Mooney in a setting of white gladioli, baby mums and palms.

The bride wore ice blue satin and lace and a fingertip veil of ice blue French illusion caught to a cloche of seed pearls and she carried baby mums and stephanotis centered with a white orchid. The maid of honor, Miss Rosemary Euth of Detroit, wore bronze satin with matching gantlets and cloche and carried yellow roses and mums. The bridesmaids, Mary Ann Cylk, Dorothy Jane Richwine and Mary Ellen Sexton wore gold satin and carried talisman roses and bronze mums.

The bridegroom's brother, Thomas, was best man and three other brothers, Robert, Francis and Martin, ushered.

A breakfast and reception followed the ceremony.

The newlyweds after a honeymoon in Pennsylvania are at home at 215 Adams street in Plymouth.

WITCH WEIGH—Four hundred years ago this scale at the little town of Oudewater, Holland, was used for weighing suspected witches. If the suspect weighed less than normal ("light enough to travel on a broomstick") she was accused of witchcraft and tortured to death. If her weight was normal, she got a certificate stating "I am not a witch." The old scale has been preserved intact for tourists to see.

NATIVE TO BARK RIVER—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Carlson of Bark River have been thinking about Christmas for a long time. Here you see them putting artistic finishes to the sleighs and reindeers they're making in their leisure. After the sleighs and animals are fashioned on a lathe by her husband, Mrs. Carlson draws in designs and applies water color paints. The lazy Susan, the candlesticks, dishes and bric a brac you see were also made by the couple, both children of Swedish folks who were among the first settlers in Bark River. (Escanaba Press Photo)

Swedish Couple Fashions Colorful Wood Novelties On Farm At Bark River

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Carlson of South Bark River probably wouldn't argue with anyone who declared that a silk purse can't be made out of a sow's ear. They would be heard quite emphatically, however, if the allegory were used too freely.

A few months ago Elmer Carlson visited in Rock and while walking near the railroad track he found an old piece of a pine tree. It was dark and dirty with age, and looked as though it had been kicked around for a long time.

Despite side-long, quizzical looks from his friends, he picked up the aged wood, put it in the back end of his car, and took it home.

His friends won't find that piece of pine there now, but they will find that it was not converted to ashes and smoke. Mrs. Carlson now uses it for storing her spools of thread, patches, scissors and other accoutrements of weekly mending.

Under the able, artistic hands of the Bark River farmer, that old chunk of pine has become an enviable sewing chest, with special receiving attachment for scissors and tiny drawers.

That sewing box isn't the only thing in the Carlson home which is their own handiwork. Of course, not all are made from chance bits of wood.

For about a year, the Bark River Swedish couple, members of the South Bark River Methodist church, have been devoting all their spare time to making wood ornaments and novelties. They've made a number of candle holders from hardwoods, many plaques, egg cups, cheese and cracker bowl sets; sleighs with reindeer, models of antique furniture, lazy Susans, and plates.

Between the artistic accomplishments and the initial idea, considerable time, effort and thought are expended by the two, both children of Bark River pioneers, and life-long residents of the community.

Carlson, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carlson who came to Bark River from Sodermanland, Sweden in the late 1890's, has a woodworking shop in the barn. There he has a wood lathe, scroll saw, chisels, finishing machines and other equipment necessary for fine wood-work. You'll find him there nearly every night of the week, eyeing his new material, trying out designs and turning out forms. In between, he probably plays with memories of his boyhood days when he milked cows and pitched hay, in the same building.

When the articles are shaped and sanded, Mrs. Carlson puts in her ideas. She completes the finishing job, using sandpaper, water colors and lacquers. Objects which have been completed are gay with colorful designs of flowers, maidens and other artistic forms. She also has experimented with oil paints. That works alright, too, she has discovered. Provided that the color is applied before the lacquer finish. With watercolor, the process works just backward.

Mrs. Carlson, daughter of the late John Nelsons, has utilized experience and knowledge gained from two years study in the art class taught by Mrs. Victor Powers under the adult education program in Escanaba. Her interest in art, as well as music, literature and "fancy work" has been lifelong. Her stand-by authority now is Peter Hunt, who has written several books on artistic wood working.

"People are more interested in art now, and take more pride in having home-made articles than in years gone by," Mrs. Carlson says. She remembers a long way back, too, even to when her father bought sacks of flour at J. B. Frechette's store in Bark River and carried them home on his shoulder, over woodland trails and horse and buggy roads.

As with a great many Swedish women, Mrs. Carlson is an excellent cook and spends much of her time cooking and caring for their white-shingled, story and a half home, two miles south of Bark River. When that is accomplished, she works on the art objects she and her husband are making, crochets, makes aprons, paints textiles or picks out right-melodies for church songs, on a small upright piano her husband bought her as a birthday gift many years ago.

Mr. Carlson is an electrician and plumber. Previously he farmed and operated a gas station in Bark River. It was while he was turning out parts for mowing machines, rakes and other farm machines on a metal lathe, that he began to think how much he'd like to make fine wood objects. He says that many of his relatives have been carpenters, and that he came by it, "almost naturally."

A while back, he had a serious abdominal operation, and now has to "take things a little easier." Down U. S. 2-41, just past the new concrete block building the Van Enkevort brothers are building, the Carlsons own several acres of land. Can you guess what they see there?

Just a little store, or home, where Mrs. Carlson can show her aprons and he, the many art objects they're making from woods obtained in Escanaba or other cities of Upper Michigan.

Ideas for new articles come easy for them. They look at a magazine, talk to some one, or just sit thinking, and presto! An idea for something begins to take shape. Other times, necessity is the mother of invention.

For example, last year members of the Bark River Methodist church wanted a creche for their Christmas services. That one Mr. Carlson made. Not too long ago, the church women wanted something different for their decorations. Mrs. Carlson went out in her garden, trimmed some crooked limbs from her shrubs, got some

Munising Observes National Education Week November 6-12

Munising—Each year the second week in November is designated as American Education Week. The observance is sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the U. S. Office of Education, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

This year one phase of the observance of American Education Week, November 6-12 will be the holding of an evening session in each school in Munising township. On Tuesday evening, Nov. 8 from 7:00 to 8:00, Wetmore school will be in session. The high school will also be in session on Tuesday evening, November 8, from 7:00 to 9:00. The classes held will be those regularly held in the morning. All other elementary schools in Munising township will be in session from 7:00 to 8:00 on Wednesday evening, November 9.

While visitors are welcome in the schools at any time during the remainder of the year, this session in the evening is held to give an opportunity to any and all parents to attend. Parents can come at any other time, but we urge that at least some time during the American Education Week parents arrange to visit the classes of their children. Parents are free to enter and leave classes at will without any formality. Ushers will assist high school visitors in locating classes.

Schools in general will observe each day of the week according to the topic for that day, as listed below:

General Theme: Making Democracy Work.

Sunday, Nov. 6—The Worth of the Individual.

Monday, Nov. 7—Educational Opportunity.

Tuesday, November 8—Responsible Citizenship.

Wednesday, Nov. 9—Health and Safety.

Thursday, Nov. 10—Home and Community Obligations.

Friday, Nov. 11—Our Freedom and Security.

Saturday, Nov. 12—Next Degree in Education.

Last year and again this year, through the courtesy of Austin Jackson, of the Delft Theatre, a movie trailer is being shown, the title of the two-minute picture, which will be shown during the week, is "Making Democracy Work."

Labor Day is the only national holiday recognized by Congressional action.

Father Thompson
Delivers Third Of Lectures On Church

The Very Rev. Arnold Thompson, pastor of St. Thomas the Apostle church, delivered the third in a series of five lectures for men and women sponsored by the Escanaba Deanery, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, Wednesday evening at the Bonifas residence.

Before a most attentive and interested group Father Thompson presented his topic, "Christ Intended That His Church be a Perpetual Visible Society."

"It is perpetual," the speaker said, "because the church as Christ founded it with its authoritative teaching body under the primacy of Peter and his successors will last until the end of time. For Christ's promise to the Apostles states, 'Behold I am with you all days even to the consummation of the world.' For further source we have Christ's promise to Peter when He made Peter the 'Rock'. He made clear that Peter by reason of his position of supreme ruler would be the source of stability and unity in his church.

"That the church is visible does not mean merely its members. We mean the church as a religious society including members visibly united under the apostolic pastors giving allegiance to their one supreme head. For Christ visibly appeared. Christ visibly established the essentials of the church to teach, sanctify and rule the faithful. It is a visible exercise of their powers.

"So from the first centuries when the church went underground, when the priests, confessors, martyrs, monks and Christians were put to death, through the Reformation and to our modern era," he concluded, "the indefectibility and immutability of the church is indicated. Essentially the church is a perfect society which will progress in the understanding and application of the divine truth it teaches, that it will never become something other than the visible society Christ founded."

Patricia Kelly,
Robert Hruska
Wed In Kalamazoo

Nahma—Baskets of palms and white chrysanthemums decorated the altars of St. Augustine's church in Kalamazoo on Saturday, October 29, for the marriage of Miss Patricia Kelly, daughter of Mrs. Lema Kelly of Kalamazoo and Virgil Kelly of Galesburg, Mich., and Robert Charles Hruska, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruska of Nahma. The vows were spoken before Msgr. John R. Hackett who was the celebrant of the 10 o'clock nuptial mass.

The music of the service was sung by the church choir and the traditional wedding marches were played by the organist.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with an illusion yoke accented with appliques of seed pearls and bugle beads. Her tiara of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

Mrs. LaVergne Nance of Kalamazoo was matron of honor and Miss Betty Hruska of Nahma was bridesmaid. They were gowned in blue and peach colonial style taffeta dressed and wore picture hats. Both carried colonial bouquets of chrysanthemums.

John Hruska, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and the ushers were William Hruska of Lombard, Ill., Robert Thibault, Donald McDonald and Donald Calcestra, all of Kalamazoo.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kelly wore a steel blue satin dress with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in forest green silk crepe with which she wore green accessories.

A wedding breakfast was served to immediate members of the families and a reception for 150 guests was held at the home of the bride's mother. Bouquets of red roses and white tapers were at either end of the table, centered by a four-tiered wedding cake.

Home In Kalamazoo—Following a wedding trip to Chicago the couple will be at home at 814 West South street in Kalamazoo.

The new Mrs. Hruska is a graduate of Central high school in Kalamazoo. Her husband, who now is employed as a salesman by the A. W. Walsh Company of Kalamazoo, was graduated from St. Norbert's high school in West De Pere, Wis., and also attended Western Michigan College of Education.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruska and daughter, Betty, of Nahma, Mr. and Mrs. James Mharik of Holland, Mich., William Hruska of Lombard, Ill., Don Sidor of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mercer, Jr., of East Lansing and Don DeKeyser of East Lansing.

Changes Noted In Norway

Wells Couple Has Interesting Trip

Many things have changed in Norway since Mr. and Mrs. Arne Andriassen of Wells left there nearly 50 years ago, but their trip to their childhood homes this summer showed them much that was familiar and interesting.

The Andriassens left July 28 to visit in Norway, and returned Oct. 28. They crossed the Atlantic on the "Stavangerfjord," both going and coming. When they left New York city the Norwegian ship had 782 passengers, nearly all of them tourists going to Norway or Sweden. The crossings were uneventful except for high seas encountered enroute home, while skirting a hurricane.

In Norway the Wells couple visited at Mamsos, birthplace of Mrs. Andriassen; at Kristiansund, birthplace of Arne Andriassen; at Gudbrandsdalen with two sisters of the Rev. L. R. Lund, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church in Escanaba; and at Trondheim, Oslo, Bergen and other cities.

Visit Cathedral
Mrs. Andriassen, who left Mamsos 47 years ago Oct. 6, and Mrs. Andriassen who left his home 46 years ago last June, visited with their many relatives throughout Norway. He has a sister and her five children in Norway and Mrs. Andriassen has five sisters, three brothers who have 111 descendants. They also toured through the country by train, boat, taxi and car, visiting many mountains and fjords.

While in Oslo, the Andriassens visited the Royal Palace and the Cathedral of Nidaros, built in 1152 A. D., and saw its impressive $100,000 rose window, its hand carved statues and woodwork and the massive stone spires. It is one of the largest churches in Europe, they were told. The cathedral was being repaired and cleaned while they were there. Several of their relatives were married in this cathedral.

Most Norwegians were well dressed, and are following the "new look," Mrs. Andriassen stated. Food is plentiful, although coffee is rationed to allow four ounces per month for each, and sugar is scarce. Other items which are still unavailable are baking chocolate, rice, prunes, candy and meats. Fish is plentiful.

Refined People
During their stay in Norway the Wells couple encountered much inclement weather, and during the time they were there, they had about three weeks of "good weather," Mrs. Andriassen contracted pneumonia while at Mamsos and was treated for three weeks by a Norwegian physician.

Some things the Andriassens stated, Norway is ahead of the United States, Mrs. Andriassen was particularly impressed with the refinement of the people and their exquisite table manners, even when families are dining alone. She also was impressed with the good music she heard there.

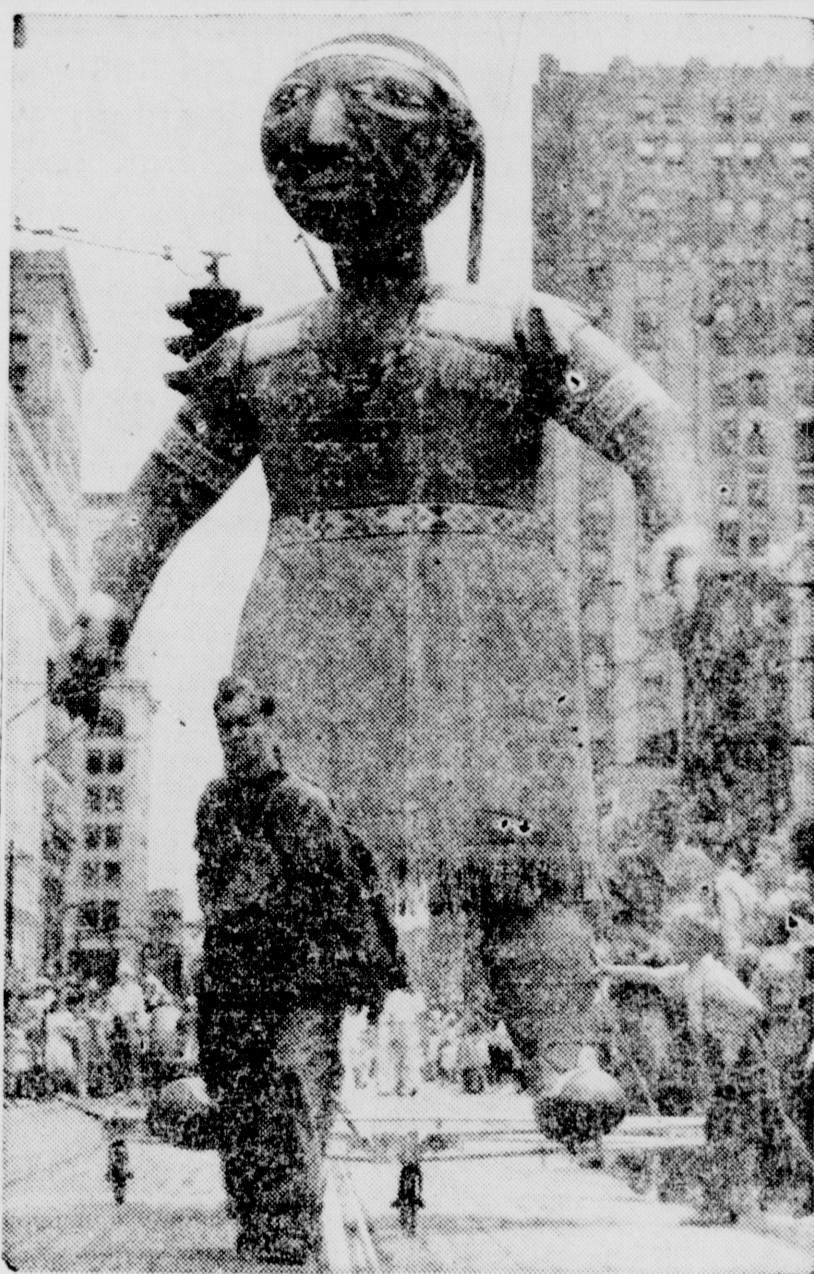

Mr. Andriassen, who is superintendent of the Vespene Dimension plant, noted that Norway is considerably behind the U. S. in wood working and pulp manufacture. He says he didn't have an opportunity to observe the industry very closely, but thought it was less progressive and not as modern.

Big Flowers
Besides noting that Norwegian children all looked very clean and were well-behaved, they noticed that many Norwegian women show preference for tailored suits, and often wear matching rain coat and hat, and tall rubber boots during rainy weather. Nearly all the coats and boots were identical.

"The Norwegians are proud people, and if one goes there, he must take his very best clothing, to look presentable beside them," Mr. Andriassen observed.

Beautiful flowers, which include chrysanthemums six inches in diameter and asters as big as the chrysanthemums grown in Upper Michigan, caught the eye of Mrs. Andriassen. She also was impressed with raspberries and strawberries picked there in September. "They were very large and juicy," she said.

Many Bicycles
Hotels were very full when the Andriassens were in Norway and tourists from nearly every country of the world could be met there. "In the larger capitals," they state, "one hears much talk of making Norway a Switzerland." "She has all the sports and

Earth Once Dust, New Theory Says

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., (AP)—A theory that the earth was created from dust instead of fire was unfolded before the national academy of sciences by one of the world's foremost chemists.

The author of the new theory is Dr. Harold Urey of the University natural areas for its development as a world playground, and the Norwegian government is interested in promoting the dollar credit of the country," they explained.

Each family in Norway has three to five bicycles in use. One frequently sees Norwegians riding, very fast, with a basket behind holding a youngster, and a pack of groceries slung from their back, they said. Bicycling is one of the best modes of transportation on the hills, where the roads are narrow, and cars would have difficulty," they note.

A bicycle costs about 85 crowns in Norway. The vehicles are the same as the U. S. model, except that the Norwegian bicycle has brakes on both wheels, for obvious reasons. Seven Norwegian crowns are equivalent to an American dollar.

Throughout Norway, schools are operated to teach small farmers how to utilize wool and wood as well as silver for souvenirs. The Andriassens brought back a large number of wooden dishes and ornaments, and several pieces of silverware.

When leaving Norway, a traveler is allowed to take out only 100 crowns worth of silver. All goods taken out must be accompanied by a receipt clearing it through customs officials. Both the silver products and the souvenir trade is helping Norway acquire more American dollars. In some stores, the Andriassens recalled, one could buy only with American dollars. Silver products can only be purchased with American money.

Both were very happy about their return to Norway and hope to go again some day. This was the first trip back for both.

by which melting iron slips in little rivulets along silicate paths.

Urey's idea of iron sinking to the center of a solid earth explains a lot of mysteries. It explains the Pacific ocean, the continents, their drifting apart, the lost continents, the tropical climate of Antarctica, the great glacial periods, and the fluctuating length of the day.

It explains how water formed from the incoming dust and how originally waters probably lay literally boiling upon the whole face of the earth.

As the iron sank, it displaced the lighter material at earth's center. This material rose on one side of the earth—where Europe now stands—as the first land. On the opposite side a compensation depression formed which now is the huge basin of the Pacific ocean.

Chemist Urey calculates the heat that sinking iron's gravitational squeeze must have produced.

That heat energy, he says, is 10,000 times more than enough to lift to a vertical height of six miles a layer of earth covering the entire earth six miles deep.

Plenty, he says to account for the drifting of the new world continents westward when they split off from Europe and Africa. Plenty to move South America, Africa, Australia and Antarctica from their present locations, through tropical climate and back to Arctic climate, and then return them to the temperate zones—except Antarctica which was left in the Antarctic circle.

Enough, too, to heat the ocean bottoms at times so that the seas warmed up and more water vapor formed, resulting in precipitation enough to make the glaciers.

All this, he says, is explained because the heat energy did not rise uniformly but thrust up here and there to melt the deep underground and displace the land or sea above. Thus the lost continents are accounted for. They rose or sank slowly.

And finally the fact that the length of the day changes by a few thousandths of a second occasionally, Urey says, is explained by the changes in inertia due to shifting mass or weight deep in the earth pushed about by the heat rising from the iron core.

This same chemistry accounts for Mars' scarcity of water and oxygen, and for the planet Venus having not a drop of water with an atmosphere of carbon dioxide.

Mars and Venus both were dust-balls similar to earth, Urey theorizes but Mars had a cooler temperature than earth and Venus a warmer, which made the differences in their atmospheres.

But chemist Urey sees an easy way for the iron to sink to earth's center while the earth was still a large, hard ball of dust. He names the chemical condition necessary,

Iron and everything else was uniformly scattered through this dust ball. That would be impossible according to former theories, which required a liquid ball of fire in order for iron to concentrate in the core of the earth, where it now is.

Both chemist Urey sees an easy way for the iron to sink to earth's center while the earth was still a large, hard ball of dust. He names the chemical condition necessary,

French Forests Supply Lumber

Fire-Swept Areas Yielding Timber

Washington, (SS)—Prospects for Europe's sagging lumber supply will come from an unexpected source this year: France's fire-scorched forests.

The salvaged remnant of some of France's most productive forest areas, ravaged by fire this summer, must be disposed of quickly if it is not to be a total loss. This source will supply enough commercially usable timber to "remove the danger of a serious European timber shortage in 1950," says the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development in an estimate of the European timber situation.

France's permanent loss is Europe's temporary gain. The one-year breathing spell, the Bank points out, has been bought with principal rather than interest. The lost principal, France's forests, will force France to become an even heavier importer of lumber than formerly, and beginning in 1951 Europe will once more face shortages.

The Bank announced this in connection with two loans totaling $5,000,000 which have just been granted to Finland and Yugoslavia for the development of timber resources. Issued in connection with the Timber Equipment Project developed by the Bank, FAO and the UN Economic Commission for Europe, the loans will be used to buy wood-processing equipment.

It is hoped that by increasing timber production in the timber-exporting countries, which include, besides Finland and Yugoslavia, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland, Europe's dependence on lumber imports from abroad will be gradually lessened.

Trees PlantedTwelve State Forties
Are Reforested

Tree planting operations on an extensive scale in the Smith Lake vicinity of the Manistique River State Forest, came to an end for the season last Saturday, State Forester Carl Makel announces.

Twelve forties were in this year's plantation with 32 men employed in the project. About 380,000 jack and Norway pine trees were set out during the planting season which started on September 8.

This is the first planting on the Manistique River State Forest land, but it is expected that much planting will be done in the spring and fall of next year. The areas planted had been logged off many years ago and were later swept by forest fires. The area is about a mile east of Highway M-94.

The Manistique River State Forest, which was dedicated three years ago last July has an area of about 200,000 acres of which about 170,000 acres are state owned and the remaining 30,000 acres are privately owned. More acreage is being added from time to time as the state takes over more tax titled land. The state forest, however, is not entirely in one area although most of it is in the north and central part of Schoolcraft county. There is some of this forest in Thompson township and in a portion of Delta county contiguous to it and there is also another isolated area in the southeastern part of Schoolcraft county and portions of Mackinac county.

The seedlings which have been planted were secured from the sales of timber which the department has permitted private jobbers to log off under the state forester's supervision.

It is the state conservation department's objective to replant all of its forest areas where it is deemed practical as much of this land cannot be used for farming purposes.

Army, Irish Sure To Get More Than Usual Weekend Workout Tomorrow

New York, Nov. 4 (P)—Notre Dame and Army, the two topmost gridiron powers, will find their paths to greater glory blocked tomorrow by opponents capable of giving them more than the customary weekend workout.

Notre Dame's clash with Michigan State at East Lansing was tabbed weeks ago as one of the high spots on the Irish schedule and the Spartans have not disappointed their backers.

But the entire gridiron world is somewhat surprised at the showing made by Fordham, which meets Army at West Point. Like Army and Notre Dame, Fordham is unbeaten and untied.

There was a time when Notre Dame and Army reserved the first Saturday in November for their annual wrestle in New York. That series has ended, but the two perennial powers may feel as if they've been banging into each other by the time they're through tomorrow night.

Game Of Week
Michigan State has waltzed through Marquette, Maryland, William and Mary, Penn State and Temple since losing its opener to Michigan, 7-3. It holds the No. 10 spot in the Associated Press rankings.

With Notre Dame rated at the top of the list, the East Lansing get-together is the only one of the week involving two of the first ten teams.

Among the remaining members of the select circle, Michigan and Baylor face the greatest apparent danger. Fifth-place Michigan will be invaded by a Purdue team that pulled the upset of the year last week in knocking off Minnesota.

Baylor, ranked sixth and winner of all six of its 1949 starts, visits Texas, a team that has lost three close ones. Their southwest conference clash is one of the few toss-ups on tomorrow's slate.

Oklahoma, the No. 3 team, is a 34-point favorite in its big seven conference game at Kansas State. California, all-victorious and rated fourth, is a 28-point choice to draw Washington State in their Pacific coast tilt at Berkeley.

Seventh-place Cornell, unbeaten in league leader, will be host to Syracuse, a team that has been beaten four times.

Rice and Southern Methodist, rated eighth and ninth respectively, meet underdog opponents in the southwest conference. Arkansas goes to Rice, while SMU performs at Texas A. and M.

Tonight's arclight schedule is a skinny one, headed by such games as Villanova at Georgetown, Detroit at Miami (Fla.), Hardin-Simmons at Loyola (Calif.) and Presbyterian at the Citadel.

Other Major Games
Other major games carded tomorrow by sections:

East—Virginia at Pennsylvania, Ohio State at Pittsburgh, Penn State at West Virginia, Temple at Boston University, Brown at Yale, Colgate at Holy Cross, Dartmouth at Columbia, Princeton at Harvard and Rutgers at Lafayette.

Midwest—Iowa at Minnesota, Indiana at Illinois, Wisconsin at Northwestern, Kansas at Nebraska, Iowa State at Drake, South Carolina at Marquette.

South—Navy at Tulane, Georgia Tech at Tennessee, Vanderbilt at Louisiana State, North Carolina at William and Mary, Mississippi State at Auburn, Wake Forest at Duke, Boston College at Clemson, Georgia at Florida, Chattanooga at Mississippi, Richmond at North Carolina State, Davidson at Virginia military, Virginia Tech at Washington and Lee and George Washington at Maryland.

West—Stanford at Southern California, Washington at Oregon, Oregon State at Idaho, Denver at St. Mary's, Missouri at Colorado, New Mexico at Arizona, Colorado A. and M. at Utah, Utah State at Brigham Young and Wyoming at Colorado State.

Crippled Wayne 11 Entertains Toledo

Detroit, Nov. 4 (P)—A crippled Wayne university eleven takes the field as the underdog in a homecoming battle with the University of Toledo tomorrow.

Toledo, on the upgrade after a slow start, will be seeking its fourth consecutive victory over the Tartars.

The Rockets' offensive headlines passers Lee Pete and Bill Johnson. The two have completed 60 out 121 attempts this season for 841 yards and eight touchdowns.

Wayne is weakened by injuries to several men, including the loss of Suren Straban, star line-backer.

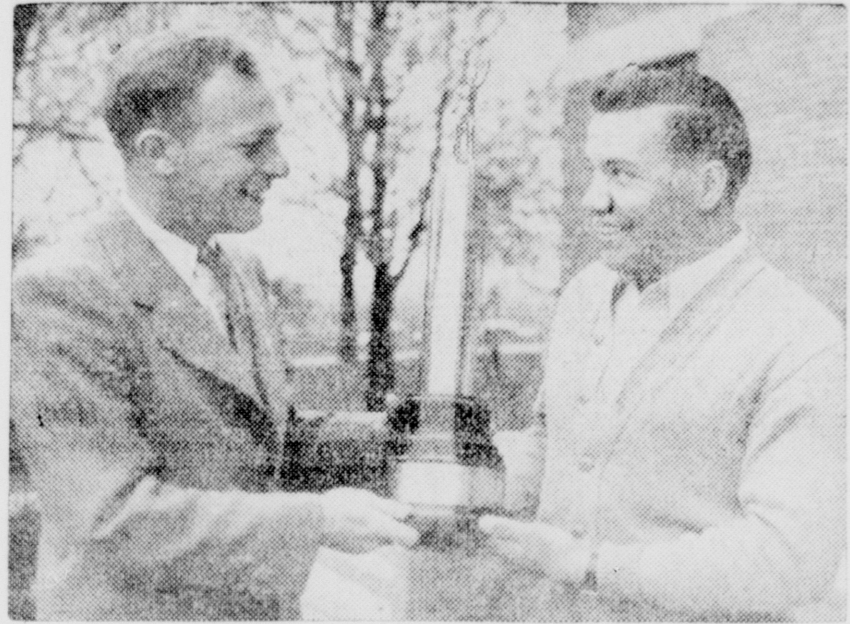

Detroit Boy, 16, Hot Swim Prospect

Detroit, Nov. 4 (P)—A 16-year-old high school junior's speedy swimming gave his Redford high team a pair of new national interscholastic records today.

In a dual meet yesterday, Burwell (Bumpy) Jones set a new mark for the 150-yard individual medley. Then he anchored the Redford team to another record in the 400-yard free style relay.

Jones held the medley mark a year ago until Ted Stevens, of Cleveland, bettered it with a time of 1:39.4. The Redford boy equaled that time a week ago, and yesterday knocked more than three seconds off it, clocking 1:36.1.

He teamed up with Don Ferguson, Ed Mihfeld and Lee Gunnerson for a 3:43.6 in the relay event. That broke the 3:46.5 record set in 1940 by Trenton (N. J.) high school.

Harlem Show Pleases 744

Escanaba Shamrocks Make Big Hit In '49 Debut

The dusky boys from Harlem—and points south and west—not only ran into Escanaba's first snowstorm of the season when they hit the city yesterday but they ran into a stubborn band of Escanaba Shamrocks at William Bonifas gym last night as well.

It was an auspicious debut for the Shamrocks, who gave the high-powered Globetrotters a very interesting game, and particularly in the first half did they make the visiting cagers perk up and take notice.

The final score was 53-39 in favor of Harlem, but the colored cagers held only a slim 27-24 margin at halftime due to some sharp basketball on the part of the locals. And had the Shamrocks not been missing many shots in this, their 1949 debut, they might have made it even more interesting.

744 See Show

Between halves, Eddie Hamman, clown, went through a whiz-ball fungo routine and a bit of horseplay with the spectators to entertain a near full-house. There were 744 paid admissions.

And once the Globes had run up what they considered a substantial lead, they went into a routine of horseplay themselves that pleased the populace no end. There was the football and baseball act in which the colored boys took no end of liberties with a basketball. And the gag where a shorty climbs on top of a longie and takes a pass from midcourt to score a setup worked to perfection.

Vertis Ziegler and Frank Washington proved themselves most adept in Thespian roles. It came natural to them.

One-Armed Ace

Boyd Bule, the one-armed basketball marvel who formerly played with the Kansas City Stars, likewise made a big hit. He scored five baskets in all, and his three quick ones in the third quarter sounded the keynote as the Globetrotters began to pull away from the Shamrocks.

Bob Hall topped the Harlem scoring with 14 points. Sunny Smith, Harlem, and Tom St. Germain, Escanaba, tied for second with 11. Bule contributed 10 and big Ray Ebl, the Shamrocks' new acquisition, dipped in nine counters.

All in all, it was a successful show and you can bank on the fact that independent basketball made a lot of friends last night.

In the preliminary, Blisdee's Drugs defeated Clairmont's Transfer, 47-27, with A. Hirm operating as the big wheel. His contribution for the night was eight field goals for 16 points.

Wednesday night in Manistique, the Globetrotters defeated the Merchants, 53-36.

Help-help! More players and teams are needed for the city dart-ball league. The new center is all decked out like a Christmas tree and scores of players are finding it an enjoyable place to spend one evening a week in friendly league competition, but more players are needed.

So, if you want to join a team or if you and your group would like to sponsor a team and participate yourself telephone Jerome Deloria, George Greenholm or Franny Lueneburg at 1347 and report your name and telephone number.

This new dartball center is a credit to the recreation department. It's clean, well-lighted, equipped with at least some of the comforts of home, and is being efficiently-managed. For an evening of recreation at nominal expense, it's hard to beat.

Cuff notes: Independent basketball got off to a rousing start with the appearance of the Harlem Globetrotters against the new Escanaba Shamrocks here last night... Yes, you can be proud of your Shamrocks' showing... The Globes have 61-59 and 49-45 victories to their credit over George Mikan and his Minneapolis Lakers... And even Mikan has had to submit to the Harlem clowning... They did it with a 41-32 lead in the fourth quarter over the Lakers... This is the Globes' 23rd season... In 22 previous seasons, they have won 3,184 and lost 235 for an amazing percentage of .933.

The Shamrocks' next game is against Ishpeming VFW, champion of the NWM league last year, at Ishpeming tomorrow night... The NWM will hold an organization meeting at Kessler's, 1323 First avenue North, at 2:30, Escanaba time, Sunday afternoon... Present franchise holders are Crystal Falls Ramblers, Hermansville Silver Foxes, Escanaba VFW, Norway Athletic association, Iron River City Cleaners, Iron Mountain Squinches, Quinnessee Day Pags, Ishpeming VFW and Negaunee Beau Chateaus... A. L. Menghini, Norway, secretary-treasurer, and Tom Roos, Negaunee, president, plan to resign... New officers will be elected here Sunday.

Now that the Escanaba stadium has burned down, the burning question of the moment among Escanaba high school football opponents with night playing fields is: "Will the new stadium overlook a field that is lighted for night play?"

Grand Rapids, new entry in the Eastern Hockey league, is setting a scorching pace... At this writing they're right on top and two big reasons for their success are Bob "Rabbit" Moy and Eddie Barber, two hockey players who performed last season with Marquette's fast team in the Michigan-Wisconsin league... Moy and Barber hooked on at Grand Rapids and are going great guns.

On hand is a letter from Charley Larson, whom many of you will remember as the ubiquitous Johnny Inkslinger... Rock may have had a successful football season this year, losing only one game to Bark River-Harris, but it was nothing compared to Rock's big year of 1928 when it piled up 312 points to opponents "nything".

Here's how it went, Charley points out: Rock beat Baraga Parochial, 38-0; Marquette B, 19-0; Florence, Wis., 60-0; Escanaba B, 47-0; Negaunee B, 69-0; Escanaba B, 18-0, and Channing, 52-0... How about that?... Not a point against them!

Sports oddity: Ferris Institute and NMCE played three consecutive ties, 1946 through 1948, before Northern broke the spell with a win two weeks ago.

Coleman And Newcombe Are Rookies Of Year

New York, Nov. 4 (P)—Gerry Coleman, fancy fielding second baseman of the New York Yankees, was voted today the American league's rookie of the year.

The slim 25-year-old resident of San Francisco, who played an important part in the Yankees' terrific fight for the American league pennant and was one of the heroes of their world series triumph over the Dodgers, joined Brooklyn's Don Newcombe of the National league as the fresh standouts of their respective circuits.

Both received the accolade in an Associated Press poll of 116 members of the baseball writers' association throughout the major league cities.

Whereas Newcombe breezed past all opposition by capturing 105 votes, Coleman had strenuous competition from outfielder Roy Sievers.

Wolves Snapping At Sam Snead's Heels In Pinehurst Golf

Pinehurst, N. C. Nov. 4 (P)—A slam-bang Roman Chariot style finish loomed today for the 47th North and South open golf tournament's 36-hole windup.

Leader Sammie Snead was still clinging to a one-stroke advantage he had carved out in the first round, but the Wolves were at his heels.

Snead's 138 was six under par for two trips over the No. 2 Pinehurst Country Club course, a 6,952-yard strip. But the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., professional pro, and two in front of National Open King Cary Midgloff.

Dangerous rivals at 141, three strokes off Snead's pace, were Johnny Palmer, the Baden, N. C. pro, who went to the finals of the PGA championship won this year by Snead, Denny Shute, PGA champion 13 years back, and Ted Kroll, Philmont, Pa., professional.

Along at 142 was the only other player under par at the halfway mark, Dick Mayer of West Palm Beach, Fla.

Still possibilities at par 144 were National Collegiate Champion Harvie Ward of Tarboro, N. C., and pros Arthur Doering, Henry Ransom and Jack Burke.

One of the days' biggest eye-poppers was the 38-40 turned in by Frank Stranahan, the Ohio strong boy.

Frank was one under through three, then things got rough. He went over par on three of the next six holes to turn two over. Coming back, he slid over par five times, picking up a lone birdie on 16. It was one of his highest scores in a long while.

Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., added 72 round yesterday to his Monday 74 to squeeze into the top twenty group with a 146 total. Walter Burkemo, Detroit pro, had 148 on Wednesday, 75 and 73.

Spartans Will Shoot For The Moon Against Notre Dame Saturday

East Lansing, Nov. 4 (P)—A week of grueling practice ended today for the Michigan State Spartans—a team that will shoot for the moon tomorrow in trying to beat Notre Dame.

Only the final polish remained to be put on this afternoon by Coach Biggie Munn.

"We've been hustling," Munn said, "we'll be ready."

Workouts this week have been conducted behind the locked gates of Macklin stadium. The coaches have been preparing what they hope is a surprise package for the high-flying Irish—out to extend their unbeaten streak to 34 games.

A score of new plays have been in rehearsal this week. Several potential stars, kept down to limited duty because of injuries earlier in the season, have been groomed for spot chores against the Irish.

New York Pro 11's Having Tough Go

New York, Nov. 4 (P)—Two of New York's three professional football teams are looking forward to the playoffs where they figure they may pick up a little change. As for the other... well, about the only thing it can look forward to is winning a game some day.

The three teams, of course, are the New York Giants and the New York Bulldogs in the National League and the New York Brooklyn Yankees in the All-America conference.

The Yankees now are tied with the Cleveland Browns for the lead in the AAC, each with six victories and one defeat. The Browns also have one tie. The Giants are tied for second in the Eastern Division of the NFL with the Pittsburgh Steelers, each with four wins and two setbacks.

The Bulldogs are firmly entrenched in the basement of the Eastern Division. They've won none, lost five and tied one, and have scored exactly 55 points in their six games. Their immediate prospect is losing more money for owner Ted Collins, who already has dropped enough to make a Rockefeller throw up his hands.

But Chandnois, making his last home stand as a senior, is expected to do 60-minute duty again in his big chance to sell himself as an all-American.

3 IRISHERS READY
South Bend, Ind., Nov. 4 (P)—Three Notre Dame football players sidelined by influenza early this week will be ready for action against Michigan State College Saturday.

The three—center Gerry Groom, left half Billy Barrett and guard John Helwig—returned to practice yesterday for the first time.

Dummy scrimmage aimed at stopping the Spartan running and passing attack in the East Lansing game was the main order of business in Thursday's practice for the Irish.

DETROIT LIONS HAVE 3RD PERIOD DEFICIT
Detroit, Nov. 4 (P)—It's the third periods that have the Detroit Lions down this year.

The Lions have lost five games and won only one. But Coach Bo McMillin pointed out today the picture might have been different without the third period jinx.

In the six games to date, the Lions have made 52 first-half points, well ahead of the 46 their opponents tallied. And in the final periods they have matched their opponents, 41 to 41.

But Detroit hasn't been able to get a single score in the third quarter of any game, while the opposing teams have made 20. The scoring totals to date are 93 for the Lions and 107 for the opposition.

"This is strictly an oddity in professional football," said McMillin. "We seem to do all right for three of four quarters, so we'll just have to correct that third period deficit."

The Detroiters will try corrective measures at Briggs stadium Sunday against the Chicago Cardinals, the only NFL team they have beaten to date.

Tax Rate Down 10 Cents

New Industries Lower Levies

John Q. Property Owner is going to save 10 cents on every $1,000 of assessed valuation this year.

New industries have boosted total county assessed valuation and made possible a decrease in the tax levy. The total this year will be $33.24 per thousand of assessed valuation. Last year it was $33.34 per thousand.

County taxes will be $9.34 per thousand, school taxes $7.30 and school debt levy $2.34, making a total of $19.46 to be added to the city tax rate of $13.46.

Harnischfeger corporation plants were the biggest factor in boosting the total county assessed valuation. Taxes are due Dec. 10.

Weatherman Dishes Up Cold And Cloudy Weekend In Michigan

(By The Associated Press)

Snow fell on Michigan for the fifth consecutive day today. It was accompanied by a warning from weathermen that Michigan is in for a cold and cloudy weekend.

The Keweenaw peninsula, which has already received up to four inches during the week, had the heaviest blanket again today. In the Houghton area more than two inches was reported on the ground at 7 a. m.

A one inch fall was reported at Marquette, with lesser amounts at Sault Ste. Marie, Cadillac, Traverse City, Alpena, Flint, Saginaw, Lansing and Detroit.

The weather bureau in Detroit predicted more snow for the north tonight with rain or snow in the south of Michigan.

Saturday's football fans were warned to expect chilly weather for the Michigan State-Notre Dame game at East Lansing and the Michigan-Purdue game at Ann Arbor.

Governor Williams Investigates Detroit Mental Hospital Jam

Lansing, Nov. 4 (AP)—Governor Williams promised a personal investigation today of a new complaint of overcrowding in the psychopathic ward of the Detroit Receiving hospital.

The governor had planned to fly to Detroit today but postponed the trip because of unfavorable weather conditions.

The Detroit welfare commission wrote Williams yesterday that the state's inability to remove state patients from the hospital resulted in 225 patients being crowded into space intended for 111. The result was reported to be a serious fire hazard, with many beds placed in hallways.

Williams noted that the same complaints have been lodged in previous years and that the state's own overcrowded mental institutions are responsible for the situation.

He said he thought there was little which could be done to relieve the situation immediately, but that he wanted to look it over himself. He planned to take C. A. Wagg, state mental health director, with him.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Nov. 4 (AP)—Wheat managed to make small gains in an otherwise lethargic market today. Board of Trade today. Dealings in all pits were less active than in yesterday's session. Some buying was attracted to wheat by the decline of yesterday, which was based in part on a statement by an agriculture department official that next year's government support price might be down about 10 cents from this year's.

The opinion of many grain men on this point was summarized by James E. Bennett and company, which said, "It would seem entirely too early to make any definite predictions as to what support levels might be next year."

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 3 3/4 cents higher, December $2.12 1/2, corn was 1/2 cent lower to 1/4 higher, December $1.19 3/4, 30 day oats were 1/4 higher, December $1.14. Soybeans were 1/2 cent lower to 1/4 higher, November $2.25, and December 1/2 cent lower to three cents a hundred pounds higher, November $9.50.

Decision Sought By UN Blocs On Italian Colonies

Lake Success, Nov. 4 (AP)—Powertial groups within the United Nations worked today to try to ensure a decision on the disposal of Italy's pre-war African colonies at this assembly session.

Corridor conferences and special meetings of groups and blocs involved the United States, Britain, the Latin American countries and the Arab nations.

A U. S. spokesman said flatly the Americans attach considerable importance to getting a solution of the question, which was turned over to the assembly when the council of foreign ministers was unable to agree on it by Sept. 15, 1948.

Spokesmen for all the groups agreed another postponement of action on independence demands for the colonies would be a severe blow to the prestige of the U. N.

The subject of what to do with Libya, Italian Somaliland and Eritrea is a touchy one because of the conflicting racial, political and strategic interest which converge in the area.

Auto Rushing Fire Victims To Hospital Kills Aged Woman

Benton Harbor, Mich., Nov. 4 (AP)—An elderly woman pedestrian was fatally injured last night when hit by a car speeding two badly burned women and a child to a hospital.

The victim was Mrs. Mary Jennings, 78, of Benton Harbor. She died in Mercy hospital after being struck by a car driven by Robert Petty, 28, of Benton Harbor.

Petty was driving his wife, Esther, 18, Mrs. Rosaleen Fairbanks, 23, and Patricia Fairbanks, 2, to the Mercy hospital after they had been burned in a fire that destroyed the Petty apartment.

The Fairbanks family had been visiting the Pettys when Petty noticed that a jug of kerosene was leaking. When he picked it up to remove it, the top came off and the contents spilled on the floor.

A nearby hotplate ignited the fumes, causing an explosion. Half the apartment house was destroyed in the ensuing fire.

Badly burned on the arms and legs, the two women and the child were being rushed to the hospital when the mishap occurred, only two blocks from the hospital.

Mrs. Petty was reported today in "just fair" condition.

China Faces Crisis; Reds Move To Split Nationalist Armies

Chungking, Nov. 4 (AP)—Nationalist China faced a new crisis today. The Communists were prepared to invade Kweichow province. Their purpose is to divide Nationalist armies on the Asian mainland.

The Reds poured an estimated 40,000 reinforcements into Chih-Kiang, 230 miles southeast of Chungking. Chihkiang is on the highway leading into Kweichow from Hunan province.

At Yuanling, Hunan highway town 235 miles east southeast of Chungking, another 50,000 Red troops reportedly were being held in readiness to support the coming offensive.

Rugged mountains bar the Communist path to Kweiyang, capital of Kweichow 210 miles south of Shungking. But if they succeed in taking it, Nationalist armies will virtually be split.

Lansing Graft Case Solon Gets Parole

Lansing, Nov. 4 (AP)—Former Representative William Green of Hillman, serving a three to five year sentence for graft conspiracy in the legislature, was ordered paroled by the state parole board today.

Green's minimum term would not expire until the early spring of 1951, but the parole board reported he is "in poor physical health and his health is deteriorating rapidly."

The board said it had no desire that Green, 68 years old, should die in prison.

Ruhr Steel Speedup Favored By Senators

Berlin, Nov. 4 (AP)—U. S. senators touring Europe may recommend on their return to Washington unlimited steel production in the Ruhr.

It was indicated today by a member of the group Senator Dennis Chavez (D-N. M.). "Steel is the key to recovery in Germany and Europe," Chavez commented in an interview. "It is ridiculous to hold down steel production."

The Allies restrict Ruhr output now to 11,100,000 tons annually.

Prison Cow Makes Butterfat Record

Brattleboro, Vt.—Marquette Pictetie Valdessa, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by the State House of Correction at Branch Prison, Marquette, Mich., has completed a 321-day production test of 718 pounds of butterfat and 20,929 pounds of milk made in herd improvement registry.

Testing was supervised by Michigan State College of Agriculture in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

This cow was milked 3 times daily and was 4 years 7 months when she began her test period.

LESSON IN SAFETY—A more powerful plea for traffic safety could hardly be found than this tragic tableau caught by a photographer in New Hyde Park, N. Y. While the youngster's bicycle rests against the bumper of the car which struck him down, first aid is given to Bobbie Schuman, age 10. The boy suffered a broken leg and serious internal injuries.

President Given Warm Welcome From Twin Cities

He said the people were behind him.

"I am not too much worried by those who oppose those policies," Mr. Truman declared. "Between the reactionaries of the extreme left with their talk about revolution and class warfare and the reactionaries of the extreme right with their hysterical cries of bankruptcy and despair, lies the way of progress."

"Between those two extremes, the main stream of American life rolls steadily onward toward a better world."

Mr. Truman spoke on the anniversary of the day last November when he received word of his victory over Thomas E. Dewey in the bitter 1948 campaign. It was "Truman Day" in Minnesota's central observance.

Republican Gov. Luther Youngdahl was one of his hosts. The President called it a "bi-partisan" visit but laughed every time he did so.

And he described last night's talk in advance as one of "bi-partisan nature which will be entirely satisfactory to the Democrats in Minnesota." He even kidded about hoping to make a Democrat out of Youngdahl.

Rough Waters Delay Hunt For 5 Drowned On Lake Huron Trip

Thessalon, Ont., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Coast Guard stood by again today waiting for rough waters to subside before resumed dragging operations in search of five persons believed drowned in the stormy north channel of Lake Huron.

The search by air and boat was begun Tuesday after their 18-foot outboard motorboat was found washed ashore on Cockburn Island.

Missing since they left Thessalon Monday are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hosteler of Sturgis, Mich.; Paul's brothers, Vernon, 44, of Elkhardt, Ind., and Perry, 38, of Lagrange, Ind.; and their father, Charles, formerly of White Pigeon, Mich.

Cmdr. T. A. Dahlberg of the United States Coast Guard base at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., said his men were standing by to join in the search if asked.

Guard Strength In State Now 10,378

Lansing, Nov. 4 (AP)—Nearing the end of a two-month recruiting drive, units of the National Guard have enlisted 142 new men this week to bring the total strength of the Guard to a new high of 10,378 officers and men.

Enlistments for the first six weeks of the drive totaled 725 with three weeks remaining to achieve the Michigan quota of 1,000.

Ironwood's battery A of the 593rd AAA Battalion is leading units in number of men recruited.

BLAST BURNS REPAIRMAN

Detroit, (AP)—Martin Cluster, 37, was burned critically Thursday when an explosion and fire swept the government cabin he was repairing in Redford township. State police said Cluster apparently lit his cigarette lighter to locate a light switch and ignited a light which had seeped from a faulty heater.

Briefly Told

Cornell Speakers—Speakers at this week's meeting of the Cornell Lions club were William Karas, superintendent of the Delta county road commission, and Hap Heathman, of Marquette. Karas spoke on Delta county road finances and the latter outlined steps taken in forming a soil conservation district and showed two films on soil erosion and soil conservation.

Sets Fire—Rayne LaMarche of 1320 North 22nd street was fined $5 and assessed court costs of $8.25 in Justice Henry Ranguette's court this morning after he pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. According to police reports, LaMarche set fire to his house trailer, in which the family lives, by spreading fuel oil on the floor, following a quarrel with his wife. There was no damage to the trailer.

B. & P. W. Meeting—The Escanaba Business and Professional Woman's club will hold a pre-dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m., Nov. 8 at the Sherman Hotel. The theme will be a Christmas workshop. Following the dinner and a short business meeting, the group will adjourn to the Youth Center where they will observe work done by the handicraft classes in the city recreation department. Those planning to attend are asked to call Mrs. Caroline Nystrom at 2055-J or Mrs. Leah Lang at 2741-W.

Ice Revue Meeting—A meeting of persons interested in the ice revue and in figure skating will be held this evening at 8:00 o'clock at the city hall council chambers.

Private first class Donald R. Kasbohm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kasbohm, Bark River, Route No. 2, sailed Oct. 26 aboard the S. S. Sultan for Okinawa, where he will be stationed for 15 months. He has been in the Army 15 months.

False Prescription Sends Dope To Red Republic Of Germany

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 4 (AP)—A physician told story of issuing a false prescription in order to obtain narcotics to send to the Russian occupied zone of Germany.

Dr. Alfred S. Ledermann, 60-year-old staff physician at the Arizona State hospital for the insane, said he knows drugs are needed desperately there to help cure the sick and relieve pain.

He explained his action to C. B. Wilson, U. S. commissioner, when arraigned yesterday on a charge of uttering and passing a fraudulent prescription for drugs.

Dr. Ledermann said he did not realize he was violating narcotics laws by having the prescriptions filled and picking them up himself. He also said he was unaware he violated postal laws by sending the drugs through the mail.

Boys' Home Stabber Found Mentally Ill, Ordered To Hospital

Marshall, Mich., Nov. 4 (AP)—Kenneth Miller, who stabbed his housemother to death at the Starr Commonwealth, was ordered committed to the Ypsilanti State hospital today as "a mentally ill person."

The 14-year-old boy was described by two psychiatrists as a victim of "severe chronic schizophrenia."

Deanery Women Elect Officers Here On Nov. 11

The Escanaba Deanery of the National Council of Catholic Women will elect officers at a quarterly meeting to be held in Bonifas auditorium here on Friday, Nov. 11. Mrs. Stack Smith, president, will be in charge. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

The slate of officers will be presented by the nominating committee, comprised of Mrs. M. B. Jensen, chairman, Mrs. William Shepeck and Mrs. Med Beaudoin. At the same time, plans for a spring program of work will be presented to members of the deanery.

The newly formed Catholic choral group, under direction of Father Louis Cappel, assistant pastor of St. Ann church, will be guests at the meeting and will sing several selections at the close of the program. Men and women of the deanery parishes sing in the choir, which already has been highly recommended, though still in its infancy.

For the past several weeks the Escanaba Deanery has sponsored lectures on the church and its place in society, for both men and women of the deanery. Bishop Thomas L. Noy of Marquette opened the weekly lecture series.

Mrs. Stack Smith is president of the deanery, Miss Lillian Grenier is recording secretary; Mrs. Marian Fry, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wilfred Bedard of Gladstone, treasurer; and the Very Rev. A. C. Coignard of Perkins is moderator. Mrs. Richard J. Rorick of Manistique is chairman of the committee on organization and development; Mrs. John Anthony is chairman of the committee on confraternity; Mrs. Leona LaValley of Garden is chairman of the committee on lay retreats; Mrs. James Degnan is chairman of the Bishop Baraga committee; Mrs. Ellen Neuhoff of Perkins is chairman of the library and literature committee; Mrs. T. M. Cassidy is deanery parliamentary, and Mrs. William LeMire is deanery director of publicity.

Rep. Bennett Will Push Deportation Of Tech Educator

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—Michigan Congressman John Bennett today pressed his demand for deportation of an Upper Peninsula college professor who has admitted he once was a Nazi.

The Ontonagon Republican said he was insisting E. Victor Sittler, assistant professor at Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, should leave this country "because his record of disloyalty in time of war makes it imperative."

Bennett reported he had given careful study to the testimony Sittler gave in the current treason trial of Herbert John Burgman, former U. S. embassy clerk in Berlin.

"He has testified that he collaborated with Burgman, who is on trial for treason," the Congressman said. "He renounced his native land to become a German citizen on the eve of war with the United States."

"Sittler is here for only one purpose, and that is to testify in the treason trials."

After that, Rep. Bennett declared, he will demand his deportation.

Employers Get Appeal To Aid CIO Control Over Electrical Union

Cleveland, Nov. 4 (AP)—The CIO opened today what promised to be a long bitter fight for control over 450,000 electrical unionists by appealing to their employers for help.

The 1200 electrical manufacturers holding contracts with the United Electrical Workers were urged not to recognize the old left-wing leadership as bargaining agent.

The request was made in telegrams dispatched to each firm by CIO Secretary-treasurer James B. Carey, administrative chairman of a newly chartered, right wing electric union.

Carey pointed out that the old UE had been fired out of the CIO in convention two days ago and said his group "demands" that it be recognized wherever UE has a contract.

This tactic put employers squarely in the middle, since they are legally bound under old contracts. Right now, UE is engaged in contract negotiations with General Electric and Westinghouse, employing more than 200,000.

Denver Atheist Heard At His Own Funeral

Denver, Nov. 4 (AP)—"This is my funeral. The clergy is a racket. I want no religious songs. This is going to be a perfectly rational funeral."

So spoke the recorded voice of Oscar O. Whitenack, 79, at his own funeral yesterday. There was no eulogy or religious music. He had made the recording and planned his funeral several months ago. The voice of the former editor of the Denver Post open forum explained:

"I am an atheist and have been for many years." He attacked religion, the Bible and beliefs in God. At the end there was a pause. Then barely audible, his voice said "that's all."

The record was placed in the casket and buried with Whitenack's body in Crown Hill cemetery.

Lewis Plucker Asks Hearing

Held On $2000 Bond Until Nov. 8

Lewis Plucker, 19, of Fayette, demanded hearing when arraigned here yesterday afternoon on a charge of negligent homicide. Judge Henry E. Ranguette set Nov. 8, at 2 p. m., for the trial and placed Plucker under $2,000 bond.

Bonds have not been furnished and Plucker has been committed to the county jail. He was arrested Tuesday by Michigan State Police of the Manistique Post, following issuance of a warrant for his arrest, on complaint of the state police.

Plucker's arrest is an outgrowth of a fatal automobile accident on Oct. 16, when Paul Watchorn, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watchorn of Fayette, was injured. The child died in Shaw hospital at Manistique several hours after the accident.

Bark River-Harris Seniors Busy With Play Rehearsals

Bark River—"We Shook the Family Tree," a comedy in three acts for five men and seven women, is now in rehearsal as the senior play at the Bark River-Harris high school. The play, a fast-moving comedy, with colorful characters, snappy lines, and funny situations, will be given December 12.

The plot centers around a too-studious girl and her problem in securing an escort to the prom. The escort, once secured, appears in unconventional attire due to a whim of his mother. Each is a member of an interesting family, and has a group of lively, mischievous friends, who complicate the problems of young and old alike.

The parts have been assigned as follows:

Hildegard, who is tired of being a wallflower, Joanne Iverson. Mr. Dolson ("Father") her father, LeRoy Johnson.

Mrs. Dolson ("Mother") her mother, Joyce Sharkey. Sally, her younger sister, Barbara Schoen.

Bob, the older brother, Leonard Erickson. Jimmy, the younger brother, Dale Nault.

Paige, who likes to play postman, Betty Noblet.

Ellie-May, Bob's hearthrob, Adel Hojnacki. Jill, her friend, Jacqueline Gauthier.

Freddie Shermer, who wears knickers, Delbert Herbeck. Mr. Shermer, his father, Pat Bergman.

Mrs. Shermer, his mother, Bernetta Bower.

Publisher, The Dramatic Publishing Company. Place, The living-room of the Dolson home.

HISTORIC INFORMATION

As an English Catholic I have no objection to Roman "Catholic Information" if it is true, but scholars cannot swallow as truth the claims made in the recent article—"The voice that cannot be stilled."

There is no real evidence that St. Peter ever went to Rome, and less that he died there and was the first Pope. St. James was the Presiding Bishop among the twelve Apostles, and when Peter escaped from prison, he said: "Go, tell James, and the brethren." And James never claimed to be the Pope, the Vicar of Christ and Divine Ruler over Church and State.

There is not a thread of evidence for the office of the Pope in the New Testament, lending his authority over rulers in Church and State. His authority is founded on the pseudo-Isidorian decretals, which scholars, even Roman Catholics, have known to be forgeries.

In Galatians, 2:7, Paul writes: "The gospel of the uncircumcision was committed unto me, as the gospel of the circumcision was unto Peter." Peter worked among the Jews and Paul among the uncircumcised heathen. Peter's home was for a time at Capernaum where we are told Jesus healed "Peter's wife's mother." He was a married man. (Matt 8:14).

In Galatians 2:9, Paul writes: "And when James, Peter and John who seemed to be pillars, perceived the grace that was given unto me, they gave to me and Barnabas the right hand of fellowship; that we should go unto the heathen, and they unto the circumcision." And, in the same chapter, verses 11-14. But when Peter was come to Antioch I withstood him to the face, before them all, because he was to be blamed." Rather strange if Peter was Pope!

In 2nd Corinthians 11:28, Paul speaks of "the care of all the Churches." Where was Peter? Working among the Jews at Antioch and around the Black Sea. He is believed to have been the first Bishop of Antioch, and scholars believe he wrote his first Epistle from Babylon to the Jews of Asia Minor.

Writing to the Romans, 15/20, Paul says: "I have preached the gospel of Christ, not where Christ was named, lest I should build upon another man's foundation." The Epistle was written A.D. 58, when Peter was getting old, and evidently he had not preached there, nor laid any foundation. Even Roman Catholics should read their Bible more.

Again, if Peter was the first Pope at Rome, how strange that Paul writing his Epistles from Rome, 58-60 A.D. to the Philippians, Colossians, Ephesians and to Philemon, makes no mention of Peter being at Rome.

Finally, to claim that "The Voice" of the Papacy, as the Voice of Jesus," cannot be stilled," is to put it very mildly, most presumptuous. The voice of the Pope has been stilled over and over again. True, Roman Catholics did not discover the Pope when speaking ex cathedra was infallible until 1870, but that dogma has not helped any, for all humans err. "The voice," still makes many mistakes. One example will suffice. The policy of the Vatican seems to have been formed by a bull of Pope Innocent 3rd issued in August, 1215, which declared the Magna Charta,—the document recognized by all free men to be the foundation of human liberties,—"null and void."

Albert Levitt, former special assistant to the United States attorney general has recently advised Cardinal Spellman, "that, under the National Laws of the United States, 1940, Section 401, (B) (D) then and now in force, you lost your American citizenship in 1946; and that you are not now speaking as an American citizen but as an alien." He has sworn allegiance to the Vatican State. Thus, the voice of the Papacy often works harm through its servants, and many loyal Roman Catholics do not know it.
